A GENERATION OF PHOXES: From left are Harold, Charles (Billy), Floyd, Martha, Evelyn, James (Alfred), Mary and Thomas (Buddy), the eight children of Emma and Pleasant Phox who threw a party for family and friends last weekend that will long be remembered. At the next family meeting, set for August 4, they will decide if they will make a family reunion a regular event.

A Reunion with a Theme: Giving & Sharing Our Love, Brings Several Generations of Phox Family Together

The three daughters and five sons of Emma and Pleasant Phox held their first family reunion last weekend.

It was a two-day affair that began with a sumptuous picnic for 200 relatives and friends in Rosedale Park on Saturday and ended with dinner for 150 at Good Time Charley's Restaurant Sunday afternoon. Sunday morning the entire family, including in-laws and friends, joined in the 11 a.m. worship service at First Baptist Church where the Rev. Michael Nabors gave a special meditation. Afterwards, the family presented a check for $1,000 to the church for the purchase of a new sign for the front of the church and a plaque in memory of Emma and Pleasant.

This was a reunion with a theme: Giving and Sharing Our Love — evident in the preparations and all the activities. There was a specially designed T-shirt — a white heart enclosing the names of the eight children, 23 grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren of Emma and Pleasant in geneological formation against a black background. There was also a red button created for everyone to wear, with black fox and black and green striping that will remain the Phox Family logo. There was even a family poem and a reunion song composed for the occasion.

This was a reunion that brought together family members from California, Colorado, and Kansas, Washington, D.C. and New York City, as well as in-laws and friends from Virginia and North Carolina to join the Phoxes who live in Princeton and the surrounding area and their many friends. When families get together to this extent it is usually at times of sorrow; this was a deliberate and highly successful effort to bring everyone together in celebration and to have a good time.

The progenitors, Emma and Pleasant Phox, came to Princeton from King William County, Va. in 1928. Married as teenagers, they had five children by then and were looking for work and a better life for themselves and their children than was available to a black family in the rural south just before the Great Depression. They left the children in Virginia with Pleasant's mother until they could get established and roomed with another family, also from Virginia, at 19 Quarry Street when they first arrived.

In 1930, they brought the five older children,

Owner of Fire-Damaged Business Unhappy with University's Delay

It has been five months since fire ravaged 179 and 183 Nassau Street, curtailing the liveliness of the street and bringing to an abrupt halt the four businesses the buildings housed. Now the owner of one of the businesses — Ray Wadsworth — says he is frustrated with the way Princeton University is dragging its heels on plans to rebuild.

The University, which owns the buildings, has not yet announced its plans. Vice President for Facilities Eugene McPartland, however, has stated that the University hopes to save a high percentage of the Thomas Sweet and Zorba's building — which was less severely damaged by the fire — and the porch and as much of the front facade as possible of 179 Nassau, where Mr. Wadsworth had his food shop.

Princeton Architect Fred Travisano was hired to develop a direction in which to proceed. Mr. McPartland said the University anticipates moving ahead with Mr. Travisano on the design of the buildings.

Mr. Wadsworth charged that the two buldings are way on the bottom of the list of University projects, behind the Engineering Quadrangle buildings, garage, and others.

"We have been involved in the zoning issue [the proposed Borough E-3/E-4 ordinance], garage litigation, two engineering buildings, concept review, Jewish Center, and biology building," said Mr. McPartland. "It's not as if we said we can't do this until the others are finished."

He added that a number of the same people are involved with the Nassau Street property. "Therefore, progress has been slower. We have some key academic programs and a higher level of workload than we are normally involved with."

Mr. Wadsworth, acting as spokesman for the owners of Thomas Sweet and Zorba's, said he had spoken early on with University President Harold Shapiro and that he understood the University would do things for the homeless businesses. But now, he said, he is going public with his concerns because "nothing is happening.

"At night time it used to be nice and lively. It's quiet now," said Mr. Wadsworth. He added that he was frustrated, as were the owners of Thomas Sweet and Zorba's.

The American Diner was also heavily damaged in the early-morning blaze. Law en-

Plans to Expand Shopping Center Meet Opposition

It was standing room only at Borough Hall last Thursday as residents from the northeast Township came to protest expansion of Princeton Shopping Center coupled with an affordable housing project in their neighborhood.

The occasion was a Planning Board meeting at which the board reviewed concept plans for removing the Acme Market space at the Shopping Center and adding 67,735 square feet of new construction. This includes a new freestanding supermarket of 45,110 square feet, and the remaining 22,625 square feet in extensions to the existing buildings.

The proposal also includes construction of 40 residential units on five acres of Shopping Center land along Terhune Road. Half the units would be reserved for low and moderate income senior citizens, half would be sold at market rate to "empty forcement officials have stated that the fire, which began in the diner, was intentionally set. Damage has been estimated at $1.5 million.

American Diner owner Nicholas Azzolini had said earlier that he hopes to reopen at the same site.

The buildings are located in Princeton Borough, and Borough officials have been in touch with the University about cleaning up the site and conforming to the building code, said Council President Marvin Reed. But the municipality has moved slowly in forcing a determination on the fate of the buildings.

As Mr. Reed explained it, the Borough has been pressing the University to rebuild the structurs, and there is a very real reason for not "bludgeoning" them with the State housing code.

"The normal response would be to have the buildings demolished," said Mr. Reed. "The Borough is trying to handle this very carefully, pressing them to come to the decision we want, which is to restore the buildings. If the Borough wanted to, it could get an order to demolish the buildings, but we can't press to have the buildings we want if we throw the letter of the law at them."

Mr. McPartland said he hopes to announce in early September the direction in which the University plans to proceed. Although he said it is difficult to guess how long the public review process would take, he hopes that work can begin in early spring.

During the wait, Thomas Sweet has been able to sell ice cream and yogurt out of its Palmer Square location. It has taken over the store next door to sell its chocolates. Mr. Wadsworth has not reopened his food shop, although he has had offers of sites. They were all, however, outside of Princeton. "If I don't get back in there soon, we'll be history in Princeton," he said.

The owner of Zorba's, Eleftherios Fikaris, was in business only 40 days before the fire. His store was the least damaged in the blaze. Mr. Eleftherios is also looking forward to reopening at the same site.

PRESSA Contract Is Up for Ratification

The Princeton Regional School Board was expected to vote on ratification of a new three-year contract with the Princeton Regional Educational Support Staff Association (PRESSA) at its meeting scheduled for Tuesday, July 24.

The newly unified union includes secretaries, maintenance staff, and teaching assistants.

According to School Board Member Patty Soffronoff, the proposed settlement very much resembles the teachers' contract, which is somewhat different from past experiences.

"The Board has generally given these units a higher settlement because their salaries are much lower than teachers and must be kept on a par with similar positions outside the district in order to fill the jobs with competent people," she said.

The contract provides a 9.7 percent raise in the first year, a 9.5 percent increase in the second year, and a 9 percent raise in the third year. This averages 9.4 percent over the length of the contract.

The contract also calls for a third personal day beginning in year two and an increase to $300 in dental coverage in year one, going to $326 in year three.

The main gain for the School Board, according to Mrs. Soffronoff, is the agreement that all secretaries hired beginning July 1, 1990, will work a full day year-round. Current practice permits secretaries to leave an hour early from the end of the school year to the beginning of the next school year.

Police Firing Range Approved by Township

Township Committee voted 4 to 1 Monday night to approve a firing range where Township and Borough police could practice the shooting skills they need for state certification to carry firearms.

Committee placed a $50,000 cap on the project, the amount the two municipalities have already budgeted for it. According to an estimate prepared by Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser, the cost would be between $29,320 and $60,000, depending on the ability to locate clean fill material with which to build a berm enclosing three sides of the firing range. Mr. Kiser included a list of possible contractors needing to dispose of fill and said that the length of time to construct the berm will depend on how quickly and under what conditions the materials are accepted.

Committee authorized him to join with the Borough and Sewer Operating Committee engineers in negotiating the arrangements at the least possible cost to the Princetons. Committeeman Richard Woodbridge voted against the project, saying he did not like the orientation of the firing range, which is directed south toward Herrontown Road.

However, not a single resident showed up at the public hearing to object to the proposal.

In other business, Committee introduced a capital ordinance to fund the walkway at the bottom of Bayard Lane/Route 206 that was discussed last week.

It also adopted an ordinance tightening the procedures for collecting escrow amounts from developers, and another ordinance clarifying motor vehicle regulations having to do with turning lanes at certain intersections and handicap parking spaces at certain locations.

Six Intersections

In work session, Committee agreed to accept the bid of T&M Associates for a study of six intersections with an eye to possible future improvements, including traffic signals. The six are Valley Road and Witherspoon Street (described by Township police as one of the most dangerous intersections in the Township); Valley Road and Route 206; Terhune Road and Route 206; Cherry Hill and Mt. Lucas Roads; and Cherry Hill Road and Route 206.

The study is to include evaluating the adequacy of these intersections to handle projected traffic volumes in the year 2000 and 2010; possible closure of Terhune Road between Route 206 and Mt. Lucas; and the use of a preempt device by which the firemen in the new firehouse on Witherspoon Street can activate the traffic light that is expected to be installed at Valley Road and Witherspoon.

The study will also include taking traffic counts to assess whether traffic lights are warranted, at those locations for which warrants have not already been obtained and developing a concept plan showing recommended intersection improvements.

As part of the same contract, T&M Associates will also design traffic signal and intersection improvements for the intersections of Lovers Lane and Princeton Pike, Witherspoon Street and Valley Road, Cherry Hill Road and Route 206, where traffic counts (warrants) indicate lights are needed. Part of this project is completing Cherry Hill Road improvements from Route 206 westerly 1500 feet to the limit of existing improvements.

The total contract is for $72,750 and does not include an additional $3,650 that will be paid Garmen Associates for an update of the traffic forecasting model that Garmen has already undertaken for the Township. Township Committee had already set aside $165,000 for these studies.

Ruling Decision August 6 In Menendez Murder Trial

Will cassette tape recordings of conversations between Lyle and Erik Menendez and their psychologist, conversations that allegedly incriminate them in the slaying of their parents, Jose and Kitty Menendez last August, be admitted as evidence during their trial?

A California Superior Court Judge, James Alhracht, announced last week that he would issue a written decision on the question next Monday, August 6. Judge Alhracht heard final oral arguments last week on the fourth day of hearings on the issue, hearings that have taken two months to complete.

Previously, testimony had been given by the psychologist, Jerome Oziel of Beverly Hills, by Lyle, 23, and Erik, 19, and by a former patient of Mr. Oziel, Judalon Smyth. Law enforcement officers seized the tapes on March 8, the day Lyle was arrested.

The tapes are considered key evidence after Ms. Smyth went to the police. She claimed that she had knowledge of statements concerning the shotgun slayings of Mr. and Mrs. Menendez August 20 in their Beverly Hills mansion that incriminated the two sons.

Defense attorneys have maintained that the tapes are private and are protected by the patient-therapist privilege.

Under California law, as pointed out by the prosecution, there are exceptions, however, concerning privileged conversations protected by law.

One exception is if threats of harm or injury are made during therapy and Mr. Oziel was allegedly threatened, according to police. Another exception occurs when third parties learn of the contents of privileged conversations. Mr. Oziel allegedly discussed the tapes' contents with Ms. Smyth.

Heat Getting to People? Police Charge Three Here

Is the heat getting to people? Borough police last week charged three individuals with a variety of charges in separate incidents.

All are scheduled to appear in Borough court Monday, prompting Capt. Thomas Michaud to remark, "That should be an interesting court session."

Leopold Starzynski, 27, of Franklin Avenue, Pennington, has been charged with assault by two employees of the Alchemist & Barrister Restaurant on Witherspoon Street, and with resisting arrest and criminal trespass by Borough police.

Police responded to a call of a disturbance Thursday night at the restaurant. According to Capt. Michaud, Starzynski, who had been asked previously not to return to the restaurant because of past unruly and disruptive behavior, was asked to leave again. When asked, Starzynski, Capt. Michaud said, grabbed one employee by the shirt, punched another and butted a third with his head. Upon the arrival of police, several employees were trying to restrain him.

"He was very combative and difficult to control," said Capt. Michaud. Sgt. Charles Davall, Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm, Ptl. Steven Riccitello and Ptl. Vincent DeMartino were finally able to subdue Starzynski who had to be wrestled to the ground and handcuffed. "He was pushing and shoving and swinging his arms," said Capt. Michaud.

Six Counts

Richard R. Colon, 20, of Bridgewater, will appear in court to answer six charges: three of harassment, resisting arrest, disorderly conduct and criminal mischief.

His trouble began around 12:40 Friday morning when Ptl. Ronald Wohlschlegel's attention was drawn to a young man talking loudly with a companion on Tulane Street. The officer then witnessed the young man break a small window in the side door of the Annex Restaurant. The owner of the restaurant came out, Ptl. Wohlschlegel met him and the two began talking to the suspect.

The suspect denied breaking the window, even after the officer told him he saw him break it. The owner said he just wanted to be paid for the damage. When the suspect, later identified as Colon, tried to walk away without paying, Ptl. Wohlschlegel tried to stop him and a struggle began. With the help of backup officers Ptl. Keven Creegan and Ptl. Daniel Brown, Ptl. Wohlschlegel was able to take Colon into custody.

"The officers and the victim all had bumps and bruises and scrapes," said Capt. Michaud. "It was a pretty good tussle." Asked what Colon's companion was doing all this time, Capt. Michaud replied, "Trying to calm him down."

Triangle

Thirty-three-year-old Peter Houde of Manitee Avenue, Lawrenceville, has a Monday court day for assaulting a Stanworth Drive resident. He has been charged with assault and criminal trespass.

Last Wednesday morning, police said, Houde went to the Stanworth Drive home of the victim who is presently acquainted with Houde's ex-girlfriend. Without being invited, Houde barged in, Capt Michaud said, and allegedly assaulted the 32-year-old occupant. Police were called at 8:40 but Houde was not at the scene when they arrived. Houde later turned himself in at police headquarters where he was served summonses. No one sustained injuries in the incident.

Forged Prescription Fails; E. Windsor Man Charged

A forged doctor's prescription slip that aroused the suspicions of a pharmacist at the CVS store on Nassau Street has led to a number of charges against an East Windsor resident.

Mark J. Giorgi, 38, of Old Millstone Road, has been charged with burglary and theft at Princeton Medical Center, unlawfully obtaining a prescription for a drug, attempting to pass a forged prescription at CVS, and unlawful possession of a drug obtained at Forer's Pharmacy on Witherspoon Street. Giorgi was later released to the custody of East Windsor authorities.

Ptl. Robert Currier had responded to a 2:30 call from CVS Monday afternoon concerning the suspicious prescription for the drug Vicidon. His investigation revealed that the suspect had entered a doctor's lounge at the Medical Center earlier the same day and stolen a number of blank prescription forms. He allegedly then went to a number of drug stores in Princeton and East Windsor. West Windsor may also be involved, said Capt. Thomas Michaud.

A description of the suspect was broadcast and Giorgi was stopped by West Windsor police an hour later around 3:30. Borough police were notified and they identified and subsequently charged Giorgi.

Theft Suspect Nabbed: Trenton Man Charged

A Trenton resident was being held in Township Jail Tuesday in lieu of ten percent cash of $10,000 bail, charged with burglary, attempted burglary and motor vehicle violations.

The suspect, Marvin C. Porter, 31, was arrested Monday evening behind a house in West Windsor by Ptl. John Seeley Jr. Bail was set later at an arraignment before Judge Russell Annich Jr.

Ptl. Seeley had responded to an alarm sounding at 7:24 p.m. at the Princeton Pool & Patio Shop, 306 Alexander Street, the location of a number of stores and shops. Upon his arrival, Ptl. Seeley observed a black male standing in the driveway with a crowbar in his hand. The suspect jumped into his Mercury sedan and sped onto Faculty Road to Washington and proceeded to the intersection of Route 1.

Many Sign Petition On Asbestos Testing

A petition with more than 100 signatures was expected to be presented to the Princeton Regional School Board at its meeting scheduled for Tuesday, July 24

According to Willow Krienke, a member of the Parents Ad Hoc Asbestos Committee, the petition will request that the School Board hire a licensed industrial inspector to perform functions necessary to ensure that asbestos removal work currently under way at the high school has been carried out properly.

Ms. Krienke said this was necessary because the high school had the largest amount of asbestos of any of the schools.

Assistant Superintendent for Business Robert Rader said the law requires that certified licensed people work with asbestos. To this end, he will recommend hiring Northeastern Analytical Corporation to review the work of the on the job monitor at the high school, S&S Environmental Science.

"I think it is essential to have someone certified," he said.

Ms. Krienke, however, said that a monitoring firm such as Northeastern Analytical is not the same as an independent consultant such as the one hired to inspect the work at Littlebrook School.

Library Workers Plan To Sue Princeton Univ.

At a rally last week, library assistants at Princeton University announced plans to file suit against the administration for what they see as unfair and discriminatory wage-setting practices.

"We've tried collective bargaining for years now and this seems to be our only other alternative," said Dan Gallagher, president of Local 956 of The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) and a library employee for nine years.

At the rally more than 125 union members and supporters gathered in Palmer Square to demand higher salaries, vacation, eye care, and dental care benefits.

Union representatives had earlier tentatively agreed to endorse a new two-year contract that provided raises of five percent plus $250 the first year and 4.5 percent plus $200 the second. Union members, however, voted down the proposal 120 to 24.

Starting salaries for library assistants range from $13,545 to $17,010. Mr. Gallagher said the union would not accept increases of less than eight percent in the first year and six percent in the second.

The union leader added that litigation is necessary because the University has violated the Fair Labor Act by refusing to provide information needed to make salary comparisons with other campus clerical workers and by holding wages artificially low.

University officials said the union has no right to specific information about non-AFSCME employee salaries, only salary ranges.

An accusation by union members that library assistants are poorly paid because 85 percent are female was denied by Uni-

Scholarship Is Awarded For Ballet Workshop

A gift to Princeton Ballet from Capezio Dance Theatre Shop of Lawrenceville has provided a full scholarship to Dotty Pauch of Pittstown, an advanced level student at the School of Princeton Ballet, for the summer workshop, which began June 25 and runs through July 27 at the Princeton studio.

In its tenth season of summer dance training for the advanced student age 14 and older by audition, the Summer Workshop faculty is headed by Princeton Ballet Company's artistic director Dermot Burke. Auditions are held annually across the nation and locally to select approximately 40 students for the Workshop. Housing is available for the out-of-town student at Pyne Hall on the Princeton campus.

In addition to the classes from 9 to 5 Monday through Friday and Saturday morning, students have planned excursions, a field trip to Lincoln Center and campus activities.

For more information about this program or other programs at the School of Princeton Ballet call Mary Pat Robertson, the School administrative director at 921-7758.

Special Terms Offered To Griggs Farm Buyers

Griggs Farm, off Cherry Hill Road, is offering a special no-points, adjustable-rate mortgage to qualified home buyers, with a minimum down payment of 10 percent.

The developer pays the mortgage points for the buyer. In addition, the mortgage interest rate is set at two percent below market rate for the first year and at one percent below market rate the second year.

According to Joyce Harrigan, who manages Schlott Realtors' sales office at Griggs Farm, the no-point low-interest adjustable-rate mortgage "offers first-time buyers an opportunity to enter the market at a price they may never see again." Ms. Harrigan says her firm has had remarkable success helping buyers qualify and get the mortgage they need. Schlott offers the services of financial services representatives to help prospective buyers secure a mortgage that responds to their individual needs.

Griggs Farm is now making the four remaining townhomes available in phase I at a closeout reduction of $10,000. Two- and three-bedroom town-

Bank Envelope Stolen At Maple Terraee Home

While the occupant of a Maple Terrace residence was home Monday mnrning, someone entered and removed a bank envelope containing $60 from a purse left in a living room. No suspect was seen. Poliee said that the door may have been open, as there was no forced entry.

A hlaek Nike duffel bag vnlued at $25 was stolen Saturday around 6 p.m. from the Sport Shop on Witherspoon Street. The bag, poliee said, was sitting near the door and was grabbed on the way out.

The suspect, a thin, black male, 18 to 20, wns seen cnming out of the store by an employee who happened to be outside at the time. The suspeet was wearing black biker shorts, black sneakers and a Bart Simpson white poln shirt. He was aceompanied by a blaek male about the same age who had the sides of his head shaved.

A piece of elnder block was used to break n front passenger window of a 1985 Snab while it wns parked Saturday night on William Street. Taken from the ear, owned by a Lawreneeville resident, wns an AM/FM cnssette stereo radio valued at $750. "We've had a number of Saab radios stolen," commented Capt. Thomas Mi-ehnud.

Three bicyeles were reported stolen in the Borough. A Schwinn mountain bike valued at $300, locked to itself, was taken overnight from a bike raek at New Graduate College, and a $650 Cannondale model, also locked to itself, was stolen from the basement of the New Grad College, where it hns been stored fnr the summer. A Trek mountain bike was taken overnight from a storage area in Spelman Hall. Valued at $300, it, too, had been locked to itself.

Township police also listed the theft of three bikes. Two 10-speed men's bieycles, both uniocked, were taken from a Von Neumann Drive driveway. Total value of both is $450.

Not far away, a $300 black mountain bike was stolen from a rack on Einstein Drivew. A Chain and lock were left behind at the rack. "Apparently, the thief used a bolt cutter," said Lt. Mario Musso.

Fined $50 each and $30 to the Violent Crimes Compensation Board were Daniel Rappoport of Holly House for harassment, and James Simmons, 40 Balsam Lane, for simple assault.

Noah Falk, 168 Prospect Avenue, was fined $415 and lost his license for ten months for driving while intoxicated, and Hyunsoo Han, Department of Chemistry, Princeton University, was fined $315 and lost his license for 12 months for no insurance.

Nery Sandoval, 240 John Street, paid two fines: $60 for driving the wrong way on a one-way street and $210 as an unlicensed driver. He will not be able to apply for a license for six months. Sergio Stever, 15 Harris Road, was fined $90 for speeding and Lorraine Sayer, 140 Dodds Lane, paid $75 for a stop sign infraction.

In Borough court Monday, Pedro Rosalez, 202 Ewing Street, was fined $215 as an unlicensed driver and $60 for a one-way street violation. Christopher E Sickels, Route 31, Pennington, was fined $60 for speeding.

Steven Lichtstahl, 15 The Great Road, paid $30 for no muffler and $20 for unregistered vehicle. Brian Brooks, 368A Mountain Church Road, Hopewell, paid $20 for pedestrian in a roadway

For driving while on a revoked list, Ernest Chester, 291 Johnson Avenue, Lawrenceville, was fined $785 and was sentenced to a day in Borough jail by Judge Russell W. Annich Jr. Mr. Chester paid $60 on a second charge of failing to dim headlights.

Pool Table Is Target Of Charter Club Vandals

Vandals entered the Charter Club on Prospect Avenue overnight last week and smashed a watermelon into the club's pool table, grinding the melon into the felt cloth. The room was marked with pool chaulk and chaulk cubes were smashed on the floor.

There was minor damage to another room, Capt. Thomas Michaud reported, but the pool table, he said, was the primary target.

Second Battle of Bastille: 'I Won Race,' Says Waiter

Christian Corre
Loser in Bottle Battle?

Two hundred and one years after the original melee, a Frenchman is storming the Bastille again.

The Frenchman is Christian Corre, a visiting research member of Princeton University's Department of Mechanical & Aerospace Engineering.

The Bastille is not the infamous fortress/prison of 1789 but the Second Annual Bastille Day Waiters Race around Palmer Square.

Last week, Mr. Corre came forth to claim that he had been wrongfully disqualified as the apparent winner of the July 13 race. He says he intends to go to court to sue for the grand prize of two airline tickets to France.

At issue is the position of the small bottle of champagne that each contestant had to carry on a tray while circling Palmer Square. Mr. Corre was disqualified when at least three of 12 judges, who were stationed around the course checking for infractions, reported that he was carrying the bottle horizontally on his tray rather than vertically.

Mr. Corre maintains that the only thing stressed in instructions before the race was that the bottle and two glasses filled with water had to be on the tray — unbroken — at the finish line. No one, he insists, said the bottle had to be upright. Mr. Corre has since returned to France but reports he intends to return in two weeks to go to court.

Not so, replies Nelson Zager, head innkeeper at Nassau Inn, one of the race's sponsors, and the race director. He termed Mr. Corre's possible court action "frivolous. I think the whole thing is pretty ridiculous."

Said Mr. Zager, "I explained the rules before every race and again before the final race. I asked if there were any questions. If there was even the hint of any question, I went over it again. There weren't any questions."

Mr. Zager added that he had repeatedly told the runners that the bottle had to be upright, as it would be on a waiter's tray. "He [Mr. Corre] was disqualified not by me but by the judges. They all came up to me. He did not win fairly.

"He seemed satisfied at the end of the race when told of his disqualification," Mr. Zager continued. "All of a sudden the next day — this. He must have had some counseling."

The 26-year-old Mr. Corre said before leaving for France that he would be willing to settle outside court if the two airline tickets were split: one for him and one for the eventual winner, Scott Marks, who is a waiter at the Nassau Inn.

No way, said Mr. Zager. For the present, the ball is in Mr. Corre's court.

Under Scoutmaster Dr. Frank Fornoff, 62 Boys Have Become Eagle Scouts

In this day and age, it seems that institutions such as the Boy Scouts would be almost as anachronistic as milkmen or drive-in movies. This is not so, according to Franklin Avenue resident Dr. Frank Fornoff, scoutmaster of Troop 43 in Princeton. In fact, not only has his troop's enrollment numbers been stable for the last 15 years or so, but there are also about six high-school-age Boy Scouts this year in Troop 43.

Although the only time that some might remember seeing these Boy Scouts is selling Christmas trees at the Nassau Inn, they are out and about — if not at a weekly troop meeting, then off to one of their many field trips and camps this summer.

FRANK FORNOFF, a Princeton resident, has been scoutmaster of Princeton Boy Scout Troop 43 for the past 33 years. The troop has seen a number of its members go on to Eagle Scout rank.

Troop 43 is one of two troops in the Princeton area. Each troop has a sponsor, which for Dr. Fornoff's troop is the Nassau Presbyterian Church. The second troop in Princeton, led by Scoutmaster Charles Makay, is sponsored by the Methodist Church.

Troop 43, which has 35 to 40 members, used to use the Church as a meeting place, but now meets weekly at Riverside School. The meetings are comprised of the troop committee, consisting mostly of parents, as well as troop leaders, scouts, and at least one member of the sponsoring organization.

120 Merit Badges

Though the Boy Scout hierarchy may be relatively simple, the way to climb it is quite involved. One of the more concrete ways to obtain "rank" is to earn merit badges, numbering 120 in all. Each badge can be earned in a myriad of ways, ranging from public-service oriented projects to basketry and woodcarving.

There are three ranks in all: Star, Life, and Eagle, for earning six, 11, and 21 badges respectively. Only two to three percent of all scouts registered in the United States attain the Eagle rank. But under Dr. Fornoff's 33-year leadership, Troop 43 has produced 62 Eagle Scouts. "I don't think that's typical of troops across the country, because most troops don't stage the kind of trips that our troop does that interest the older boys."

Dr. Fornoff's introduction to the Boy Scouts was as an undergraduate at the University of Illinois in 1935. One of his close friends, who had been a Boy Scout, was a scoutmaster, and he gave Dr. Fornoff the position of assistant scoutmaster. As a graduate student at Ohio State, Dr. Fornoff became involved with the YMCA in Columbus, and when he moved on to UC Berkeley, he was again assistant scoutmaster.

After the war, while teaching chemistry at Lehigh, one of Dr. Fornoff's students, who was a Boy Scout, asked if he wanted to become a scoutmaster. He accepted, and in his 12 years at Lehigh he spent seven as a scoutmaster. Dr. Fornoff moved to Princeton in 1956 from Kansas State University, and has been working for Educational Testing Service as well as for Rutgers, as a part-time teacher of chemistry.

Summer Outings

In the summer months, the Boy Scouts take several trips and outings. Their destinations include a two-week trip to Blairstown, a trip to Yard Creek Scouts River, two five-day, 50-mile backpack trips along the Appalachian Trail, a backpack trip in August to Idaho, and less strenuous outings to Philadelphia baseball games and Great Adventure.

During these trips, the scouts work toward earning more merit badges in a wide spectrum of program areas, including field sports, waterfront, ecology, handicrafts — and even plumbing and dentistry. There is a volunteer counselor, called a merit badge counselor, who is knowledgeable in the particular field, as well as pamphlets available to the Boy Scouts for those areas that may not lend themselves to being hands-on activities.

Scoutmaster

The Boy Scouts of America has a long history, dating back to 1908. The first manual was written by General Baden-Powell, of England, who started both the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts internationally. The first troop in the Boy Scout council in this area was registered in 1918, when there were approximately six to seven troops.

Not surprisingly, enrollment in this area has gone down since the first few decades after the Boy Scouts' inception. This is due largely to fewer number of leaders and sponsors. Although values are constantly changing, this change does not seem to have affected Dr. Fornoff's troop's enrollment. He says that enrollment in the last 10 to 15 years in his troop, "has gone up a little bit, and down a little bit from year to year, but it's been fairly stable."

Like Applying to College

The road to Eagle Scout rank isn't simple, which explains the small percentage of Boy Scouts who reach the top rank. The process seems almost as rigorous as applying to college. First it is necessary to complete an Eagle project, which involves many hours of planning, working, and directing younger scouts. The project idea is conceived by the scout, but the specific tasks and jobs which must be done are dictated by whichever institution is receiving the services.

The Eagle Scout Project of Troop 43's Shawn Reddy and Dean Lyeteffi involved more than 100 hours each of environmental improvements in the area. The project can also be tedious — one scout's project was to scan each shelf of the Princeton Public Library in search of books that were out of order.

Once the project is completed, the Scout must prepare an application listing all of his badges, honors, goals, and a detailed description of his project, to be submitted to the Eagle Board of Review. Ultimately this must be sent to the National Headquarters of Boy Scouts of America for final approval.

There is much more to the intricate web of all of these elements which together are called the Boy Scouts than just selling Christmas trees. Luckily, it seems that so far the changing times have not eroded the desire of many young men to volunteer time to improve their community and themselves. Dr. Fornoff and his 33 years of commitment are further proof that there is still dedication to these fundamental ideals.

When asked if he almost considered his troop his family, Dr. Fornoff, who is not married, replied, "Well, yes. I've come to know a good many people that way, and sometimes the 'family' become good friends, and the friendship may continue after the boy is gone from scouts."

The institution seems alive and well, doing things not so differently from when we were still twisting to Chubby Checker. Scouts honor.

in Louisiana, Rep. Boggs was elected to the House of Representatives in 1973.

She took over the seat of her husband, House Majority Leader Hale Boggs, who was lost in an airplane, and presumed dead, while campaigning in Alaska.

In her announcement, Rep. Boggs did not refer to the illness of her daughter, who is battling cancer. Later, however, in talking with reporters, she spoke of "family obligations that are obviously a joy to meet."

Free Evening Hayrides Available in Hopewell

Howell Living History Farm, Hopewell Township, will offer free Saturday evening hayrides from 5 to 8 p.m. on July 21 and 28 and August 4 and 11. Wagons will be drawn by the farm's work horses. The rides will last approximately 20 minutes.

During the evening programs, visitors can take self-guided tours, picnic, and join a marshmallow roast at dusk. The farm will not be open during the day on these dates, or on weekends during the month of August. Weekday hours are 10 to 4 Monday through Friday.

Howell Farm is located on Valley Road off Rt. 29, two miles south of Lambertville. Parking and admission are free.

For more information, call the Mercer County Park Commission, 397-0449 or 737-3299.

4-H Club & Farm Show At Mercer County Park

The 72nd annual Mercer County 4-H Fair and Farmers Show will be held this weekend in Mercer County Park, West Windsor.

The fair begins Friday at 9:30 a.m. and continues all day Saturday and Sunday at the ice skating rink in the park. Parking and admission to the show are free. Special features include the exhibits by 4-H Club members of their projects — cows, chicks, sheep, goats, ducks, rabbits and seeing eye dogs, as well as indoor and outdoor gardening, vegetables and clothing displays.

There will be a mini-kids' tent, a kids' fair, and open pet show on Saturday, plus hay rides, pony rides, games and contests. There will also be live entertainment and music by a different band each night. Area crafters will exhibit their wares, and some 30 industry and nonprofit groups will also have educational displays.

Fireworks are planned on Friday night.

Women's Street Defense Is Topic of Seminar

The American Red Cross, Princeton Area Chapter's Corporate Health Services is offering a women's street defense seminar on Wednesday, August 1, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, 237 North Harrison Street.

The seminar will highlight street defense techniques, victim profiles, the law, and victims' rights. Cost is $35 per person and registration is required. To enroll, or for more information, call Sandy Racis at 924-2404.

Volunteers Are Needed At N.J. State Museum

The New Jersey State Museum is seeking volunteers for its publications/development office. Volunteers will become part of the public relations team and help coordinate many of the behind-the-scenes activities at the museum.

A discount program for the museum shop, program admissions, and museum events is offered to volunteers.

Interested persons should call 984-0676. Hours can be arranged to suit an individual's schedule.

Park Cars Underground, Not on Palmer Grounds

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I enthusiastically support the letter of Pauline W. Egan (TOWN TOPICS, June 27) condemning the proposed construction of a giant 44-car parking lot on the beautiful grounds of Palmer House. Edgar Palmer must be spinning in his grave!

Princeton should get smart and follow the lead of smarter cities in California where we formerly lived: put garages underground. Princeton now has acres and acres of parking lots. Princeton University is every bit as bad as the land barons of Brazil who are burning trees for cattle raising: the "Greenhouse Effect" is the same — if not worse because grass and hay will replace the burned trees. Here it will be steaming tarmac!

We are now witness to Lord Acton's dicta, "Power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely!" The only solution is to raise funds to haul Princeton University into Court. (Shapiro simply doesn't understand Princeton and its traditions).

We Should Mourn Loss Of Princeton Rep Co.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We have been loyal Princeton Rep Company fans for years, since the unusual performance in 1984 of Marsha Norman's The Laundromat in the Princeton Shopping Center's laundromat, through to this spring's production of A.J. Gurney's Love Letters.

Sadly, Princeton Rep Company has had to move to New Brunswick this summer to present The Temptation of Maddie Groham by Phyllis Purscell and Terence McNally's Frankie and Johnny in the Clair de Lune at the George Street Playhouse. No suitable space could be found in Princeton!

Princetonians should mourn the loss of this excellent company's professional and critically-acclaimed exciting presentations. We urge you to travel the short distance to New Brunswick to see Princeton Rep Company's terrific productions.

Let's hope Princeton Rep is back in Princeton soon.

Find an Alternative To Palmer House Lot

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It is disappointing to hear of the University's and the Borough's consideration of creating a parking lot of 40 spaces behind Palmer House.

This landmark lends a dignity to the changing town of Princeton and an alternative,

Taking the Long View on Library Expansion

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I would like to clarify recent reports concerning the possible downscaling of the expansion plans of the public library.

In 1988-89, a citizen's committee which I chaired recommended that the library expand to 66,000 square feet at a cost of $9.4 million. This recommendation was offered after considering larger and smaller alternatives as well as moves to other locations.

Borough Council recently asked whether a less ambitious plan could be substituted for our committee's recommendation. "Of course," was the appropriate answer by the president and the director of the library.

However, missing from the news reports were several important caveats:

• a scaled-down proposal is a short-term response to a need for bricks and mortar, which are long-term assets. Our committee found this alternative to be a misuse of community resources.

• the need for expansion is so great that a smaller program would only deal with existing problems of tight space. The library would have to return to the community almost immediately to plead for additional funds to meet anticipated future growth requirements.

• for the library to remain an "anchor tenant" of our downtown district and an anchor of our cultural life, it must expand with society's explosive requirements for information. Just to keep its place in the community, the library must grow.

Although there are many worthwhile demands for public funding, I believe that a vibrant library which keeps pace with our community's needs is at the very top of the list. The last library expansion was 25 years ago. In replacing Bainbridge House with the current library in 1964, our community demonstrated foresight which lasted two decades. This time, I hope we have the courage to commit to fund the same degree of foresight.

Fourth of July Concert Was a Huge Success

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The New Jersey Symphony Fourth of July Pops Concert and Fireworks was a huge success, largely due to the efforts of many rather than a few. As chairman for the first time, I met and worked with many people I had not known before being asked to organize this monumental event! It was the first time that I had a sense of community among communities.

Volunteers from the New Jersey Symphony League, Princeton University, Westminster Choir College, Chemical Bank, and Hamilton-Mercer REACT joined forces with Mercer County Park Rangers, West Windsor Township officials, and New Jersey Symphony personnel to make this celebration happen.

Local businesses gladly acted as ticket outlets and many others purchased bloc tickets and made contributions. Newspapers and radio stations did interviews and feature stories to help spread the word. There were those who questioned the new location in Mercer County Park, those who were pessimistic, thinking of all that could go wrong and those who were optimistic, encouraging and supporting until the first note was played and the last rocket fired.

Why do people get involved? Tradition? The Pops Concert is in its 14th year. A good cause? Yes, the proceeds will benefit children throughout the state and specifically Mercer county with educational programs sponsored by the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra. A portion will go to the Westminster Conservatory Scholarship Fund, which will enable students to continue to receive private instruction. Patriotism? How can we celebrate the Fourth of July without family gatherings, picnics and fireworks?

Was everything perfect? No, not by a long shot. But people were understanding and patient. We did have some exiting problems — Mercer County Park covers a large area — but these are already being addressed for next year. Perhaps the wind rustled the mikes at times and acoustically, all was not perfect, but can you imagine being out there without a breeze?

I would like to extend a personal thank you to all who were involved and who gave their support for this very important charitable event.

To register for classes and tours, for more information or to obtain a brochure, call 497-4480, Monday through Friday from 9 to 4:30.

Appreciation Day Held For Eden Bus Drivers

The Eden Institute, a school for children with autism, held a "Bus Driver Appreciation Day" to thank Eden's bus drivers for their interest and involvement in transporting students to and from school each morning and afternoon.

The drivers were invited into the school for refreshments and the chance to hear Eden's president, Dr. David L. Holmes, say a few words of thanks. They also watched a videotaped documentary on Eden, and each person received a special gift made by the students.

Founded in 1975, the Eden Institute provides education and vocational training for 50 autistic children, ages 3 to 21, from 12 counties throughout New Jersey. The Institute is part of the Eden Family of Programs, which helps people with autism reach their full potential and have a more productive, independent and fulfilled life within the community.

Buddy and Delores Phox

Martha and Harold Barbour

Phox Family

— Mary, Evelyn, Martha, Thomas and James (known hy his middle name, Alfred) and the grandmother to a house at 270 Witherspoon Street. The three younger hoys, Floyd, Charles (called Billy) end Harold (called Porky) were born in Princeton.

The surname was originally Fox, hut Pleasant changed it to Phox — no one is quite sure why — after Mary was born, while they still lived in Virginia. Mary never knew she was a "Fox" until she applied for her social security number, and then it took two trips to Virginia to get her birth certificate straightened out.

Pleasant worked for Matthews Construction Company in Princeton until t951 when he went into landscape contracting on his own. Described by his daughters and granddaughters as a "Christian gentleman" and a Pied Piper who attracted children wherever he went, he was superintendent of the Sunday School at First Baptist Church for 25 years and a deacon of the church. He helieved in discipline, his children say, but he rarely got angry when he administered the necessary spanking.

After Sunday School, all the children in the neighborhood would come to the Phox house and there would be a treat for each one as they marched around the dining room table. His grandchildren called him "Pop-pop," and one, Jeri Smith, Evelyn's granddaughter, says he was the greatest influence on her life. Jeri is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and director of the Head Start program in Trenton.

Gentle Emma

Emma, Pleasant's wife, is described as having been somewhat his opposite, very quiet, gentle and peaceful. She worked at Willow Gate Farm, Province Line Road and Mercer Street (the Lawrence Animal Hospital is located on part of the property) and helped bring up the Murrey children there. She died in t944 at age 44.

The three younger boys stayed with their older sisters, who were by then married and with children of their own, end Pleasant's only sister also came from Philadelphia to look after them until he remarried. His second wife was Elsie Green, and she too was much loved.

Pleasant died in 1965. Except for Evelyn, who moved to Trenton t5 years ago, all eight of the children have continued to live in Princeton. All eight went through Princeton schools and graduated from Princeton High School. They are justifiably proud of the numbers of children and grandehildren who have gone to college and branched out in occupations ranging from television to advertising to human services, even though that has also meant that the younger generations have tended to move away from Princeton.

Mary, the oldest of the eight, was married to Henry Gee, a fixture at Princeton Bank & Trust for many years who has since died. Their two daughters are Helen G. Grisham, an executive secretary at Princeton Medical Center, and Patricia G. Clark, a benefits advisor at Mobil Research Center in Pennington. Their son, Henry Gee Jr., called Sonny, was not at the reunion. Like her mother, Mary also did domestic work in Princeton, working for the same families for many years.

Evelyn's gift was taking care of older people, but she also helped Floyd run Phox's Restaurant on Leigh Avenue for a time. Also a widow, she has four daughters. Evelyn Jr. is a graduate of Rider College and an administrative assistant at the Department of Health and Human Services in Washington D.C. One of her two sons was tragically killed during a holdup when he was a student at Norfolk, Va. State University. He left a young wife and infant son, and that baby, Adrian Miles Jr., now age 2, was the youngest great-great-grandchild attending the reunion.

Another of Evelyn's daughters, Jeri, is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and is director of the Head Start program in Trenton. Frances is an executive secretary at United Progress in Trenton. The fourth, Gail, a graduate of Mercer County Community College, works at the Henry J. Austin Health Care Center in Trenton.

Martha, the third daughter of Emma and Pleasant Phox, worked for Bamherger's in Princeton for 24 years and then at Quaker Bridge Mall for another four years before retiring. She is married to Harold Barbour and they have two sons, graduates of Central State University in Wilberforce, Ohio, and Kentucky State University in Frankfort, Ky., respectively. James Jr. is manager of administration at the Institute for Advanced Study, while John is a vocational counselor at the New Jersey Training School in Jamesburg.

Careers In TV & Film

The Thomas (Buddy) Phox family take credit for starting the trend of family members working in the communications industry, particularly film and television. It began with Delores, Buddy's wife, who worked for On Film when it was located in Griggstown. Buddy joined her, and both commuted to New York until the company went out of business in 1965. Delores became the film librarian at Young & Rubicam, and Buddy joined an international televideo production company as production manager.

Delores is now retired, and Buddy works free lance, sometimes for his brother Alfred, a lighting and film production specialist, who has worked in Africa and the mid-East producing documentary and other types of films. Alfred's younger son Lance, a Dartmouth graduate, works with him and his older son, James Jr., is an executive producer at Foote Belding Cone advertising agency in San Francisco, having also worked at advertising agencies in New York City.

Best Sense of Humor

Next among the sons and daughters of Emma and Pleasant is Floyd Phox, sanitation foreman at Princeton University, or what he jokingly describes as a "garbologist." Floyd won the "Best Sense of Humor" award at the dinner on Sunday and is said by his siblings to have inherited their father's "Pied Piper" trait. Floyd has a strong bass baritone, and is a lead singer at First Baptist Church as well as frequent performer in PJ&B musicals.

He is married to Hester, an aide at John Witherspoon School for 20 years. Their son Terrence was a standout three-sport athlete at Princeton High School and at Kansas Wesleyan University. He is now a sales representative for Blue Cross/Blue Shield in Hutchinson, Kansas, and married to a young woman from Kansas.

Charles W. Phox (Billy) won the "most children" award, along with Harold (Porky) and Evelyn, each with four offspring apiece. Billy's oldest, Lisa, graduated from the Barbizon School of Modeling and lives in the Midwest. The others are Barry, Charles Jr. and Cynthia.

Harold, the youngest of the eight, has also been in the communications business, as a film editor. His four children's names all begin with "K": Keith, a sales representatives with Metropolitan Life in New York; Kellie, an editorial assistant at Playboy magazine; Kevin, with Bel Atlanticom in Princeton; and Kerri, at Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond.

Hester's Idea

The person who persuaded the Phoxes that they should hold a family reunion was Floyd's wife, Hester. Her family, the Ratliffes of Charlotte and Wadesboro, N.C., have been holding reunions on a regular basis, and each one has meant a great deal to her. When she learned earlier in the year that one was planned for this July, she told Floyd and his brothers and sisters they should do the same. The family agreed, and Hester and her sister-in-law Delores, Buddy's wife, took on the job of organizing it.

They began holding family meetings at one another's homes in January. The host and hostess served delicious food, and Hester as secretary took minutes of all they discussed and decided. The family is close-knit and gets along well together, so it was not difficult to come to consensus on what they wanted the reunion to be.

They formed themselves into committees for various tasks: booklet design, invitations, program, hospitality, activities, decorating, T-shirt, and food.

For the picnic, the food committee prepared 50 pounds of potato salad and 60 pounds of cole slaw. Forty-eight chickens were pre-baked and barbecued as the main staple along with hot dogs, hamburgers, spare ribs and slabs of roast beef. The menu included baked beans (50 pounds), corn-on-the-cob (three cases, 55 ears each case), plus an enormous salad topped with fancy-cut peppers from Floyd's garden.

Rain Held Off

There was also cut-up fruit in two big watermelons, fruit punch and ice tea in big coolers. Everyone brought a dessert, Mary her famous 7-Up pound cake and Hester her 30-day cake, and there were homebaked peach cobbler, pies, cupcakes and cherry topped cheese cake. While all this was being assembled, the men and boys played horseshoes and pick-up basketball while the women visited in the shade.

The decorations committee strung streamers at the entrance to the Rosedale Park group picnic area, and there were red, black and green balloons at the tables in the picnic pavillion. The rain held off until after everyone had eaten their fill and group photographs were taken. Then all the Phox family set to as the clean-up committee.

The picnic was free to all invitees, the gift of the eight children. Guests at Sunday's dinner paid $18.50 per person and had a choice of entree.

At the dinner, Hester and Delores were presented big bunches of red roses by the family in appreciation of their hard work in organizing the whole affair. There were awards in the form of wrapped gifts to the one who travelled the furthest (James Jr., from California), the one with the most grandchildren (Evelyn), the most talkative (Hester and Martha), among others. At the door there was a collage of family pictures put together by Martha and her son John.

During the time for remarks, Jim Jr. said, "Coming together today proves that you can always come home. I thank everyone here for welcoming me home. Spiritually it is a great feeling."

The Rev. Nabors spoke of what a "beautiful and blissful weekend it had been," and added that "the town of Princeton was blessed when Pleasant and Emma Phox came to live here." To which it seemed utterly appropriate to say, Amen.

Money. As in loans. You see, right now, loans from medium to extra-large are on sale at NJNB. For a limited time, we're offering a special low rate, when monthly payments are deducted from your NJNB checking account.
That means payments can be as low as $235.80 on a $15,000 10-year loan. What's more, in most cases, we'll approve your application within 24 hours. And if you choose a loan based on the equity in your home, you could enjoy tax advantages,* too. Pretty good return policy for a sale item, wouldn't you say?
So if you want to modernize your kitchen, pay for a college education, or finally buy your dream car, call 1-800-542-5626, ext. 621, weekdays 8am-8pm, Saturdays 9am-1pm. Or stop by any branch.
And take advantage of NJNB's loan sale, before we're "sold out."

Member FDIC Equal Opportunity Lender

Helping You Make The Most Of Your Money.℠

*10.99% APR is available for secured loans up to 120 months when payments are automatically deducted from an NJNB checking account. Ask about other rates and terms available. Rates subject to change. Home Equity Loans must be secured by your primary residence. Check with your tax advisor about specific eligibility for tax deductibility. Example: If you borrow $15,000 at 10.99% for 120 months, your monthly payment would be $235.80. This includes single life accident and health insurance. Title insurance is required on loans of $100,000 or more. Approval for secured loans may be subject to property search and appraisal. Additional income verification may be required.

OBITUARIES

George H. Fremon, 75, 311 Western Way, died of emphysema July 17 in the Princeton Medical Center. He had lived at the Western Way address since 1956.

A native of Leeper, Mo., Mr. Fremon was graduated from Columbia University in 1935 with a degree in chemical engineering, and continued at Columbia in graduate chemical engineering studies until 1937. In that year, he joined the staff of Union Carbide in Charleston, W. Va., and for the next 19 years did research in synthetic fibers. In 1956, he was transferred to the New York offices of Union Carbide where he specialized in patents.

After electing early retirement in 1969, he joined the staff of Educational Testing Service, serving as an editor for the Graduate Record Examination. He retired from ETS in 1980.

An expert in the workings of the internal combustion engine from early boyhood, Mr. Fremon began, in the 1970s, to prepare the book whose theme he had been formulating in his mind for many years: why trade in a still-functioning automobile? With his wife, Suzanne, a published writer herself, he wrote Why Trade It In? - published in 1976 by the Fremons and a successful seller for many years. A 1983 edition detailed the ways owners can maintain a car without doing the mechanical work themselves.

In 1981, the Fremons wrote for teenagers a guidebook through the mysteries of Your First Car, dedicating it to their daughters and grandchildren.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Fremon is survived by four daughters: Suzanne Fremon of New York City, Charlotte Fremon Danielson of Princeton, Julia Fremon Scott of Palo Alto, Calif, and Jane Fremon of Princeton; three grandchildren, Matthew Fremon of New York, and Susan and Sara Danielson of Princeton; two sisters, Julia Bierdeman of Watertown, Mich. and Jane Engelbrecht of Austin, Tex.; and nieces and nephews.

Arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home. A memorial service will be held August 24 at a place and time to be announced later. Contributions in Mr. Fremon's name may be made to Princeton Friends School, P.O. Box 231, Blawenburg 08504.

Dr. Alfred G. Green, 72, of Cranbury, died July 21 in Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Newton, Mass.

Born in Trenton, Dr. Green was a former resident of Princeton before moving to Cranbury 18 years ago. A psychiatrist, he was in private practice in psychiatry and psychoanalysis, first in Chicago, then in Princeton from 1963 to 1972 and finally in Cranbury from 1972 to the present. He was an instructor in psychiatry at the Rutgers University Medical School and acted as a consultant for numerous institutions and organizations.

A graduate of Trenton High School, he received his bachelor's degree at Rutgers University in 1939 and his M.D. from the University of Pennsylvania Medical School in 1943. He was a resident in psychiatry at the U.S.V.A. Hospital in Hines, Ill., and was certified at the Chicago Institute for Psychoanalysis in 1961.

During World War II and the Korean conflict he served as a battalion surgeon in the Marine Corps and psychiatrist in the Navy and was a reserve officer for several years with the rank of lieutenant commander. Dr. Green was a life member of the American Psychiatric Association and the American Psychoanalytical Society, and was a member of the New Jersey Psychoanalytical Society. An enthusiastic duplicate bridge player, he was a life master of the American Contract Bridge League and played in local and national tournaments.

Surviving are his wife, Marilyn J. Green; two sons and daughters-in-law, Dr. Christopher and Ann Green of Cross Plains, Wis., and Randall and Nancy Green of Cincinnati, Ohio, a daughter, Pamela S. Green of Boston, Mass.; a brother, Spencer Green of Chicago; a sister, Frances H. Green of Mercerville; and four grandchildren.

A service of remembrance will be held Thursday at 2 at the A.S. Cole Funeral Home, 22 North Main Street, Cranbury. Friends may call this Wednesday, July 25, from 7 to 9 at the funeral home. Entombment will be at the convenience of the family in Woodbridge Memorial Gardens Mausoleum, Woodbridge.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Chicago Institute for Psychoanalysis, 180 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill., 60601, or to the Cranbury Historical and Preservation Society, PO Box 77, Cranbury 08512.

Israel Spicer, 87, of Lawrenceville, died July 22 at the Lawrenceville Nursing Home.

Born in Springfield, Mass., Mr. Spicer lived in South Orange before moving to Lawrenceville 22 years ago. He was a graduate of New York University and Harvard Law School and practiced law in Newark from the late 1920s until 1968, when he moved to the Princeton area and became counsel to the New Jersey Bankers Association in Princeton. He later became a counsel to the law firm of Jamieson, Moore, Peskin & Spicer in Princeton.

Husband of the late Elizabeth Jay Spicer, he is survived by a son, Michael F. Spicer of Princeton; three grandchildren, Ellen Spicer of Monmouth Junction, Jennifer Spicer of Falls Church, Va., and Andrew Spicer of Princeton; and a sister, Julia Davies of San Francisco.

A memorial service will be held Sunday at 3 at Bernheim-Apter-Goldsticker Suburban Funeral Chapel, 1600 Springfield Avenue, Maplewood. Burial was private. Memorial contributions may be made to the Lawrenceville Meals on Wheels Program, PO Box 6662, Lawrenceville 08648.

Arrangements were under the direction of Kimble Funeral Home.

Lelia E. Wilson, 67, of Pennington, died July 22 in St. Francis Medical Center, Trenton, from complications of lymphoma.

Born in Glasford, Ill., Mrs. Wilson lived in Kenmore, N.Y., before moving to Pennington in 1972. She was a graduate of Canton, Ill., High School, Class of 1940, and the University of Illinois, Class of 1944.

Mrs. Wilson was an active member of First United Methodist Church of Pennington, where she served as Sunday School teacher and superintendent. She was also a past president of the United Methodist Women, a prayer group leader and lay speaker, and lay delegate to the Southern New Jersey Annual Conference. She was also a licensed ham radio operator, novice class.

Surviving are her husband, Fred A. Wilson; three sons and two daughters-in-law, the Rev. Dr. Douglas F. and Nancy Wilson of Perry, N.Y., Dr. Edward L. and Angela Wilson of Logansport, Ind., and Dr. Richard A. Wilson of Palos Hills, Ill.; and two grandsons, Jefferson and Jonathan Wilson of Perry.

A memorial service was held at First United Methodist Church, the Rev. Dr. Robert Williams, pastor, and the Rev. Nancy Bowen, associate pastor, officiating. The funeral will be Friday at 2 at White Chapel United Methodist Church, Glasford, Ill., with burial in White Chapel Memory Gardens, Canton, Ill.

Memorial contributions may be made to First United Methodist Church, Pennington, or to the American Cancer Society, 652 Whitehead Road, Trenton 08648.

Evelyn Lewis Edmonds, 84, of Princeton, died July 19 at home. Born in Findlay, Ohio, she lived in Washington, D.C. and Delaware before moving to Princeton 16 years ago.

Wife of the late P. Burdette Lewis, and sister of the late Irene Chadwick, she is survived by her husband, Charles M. Edmonds; a daughter, Barbara Russo Fischer of Ewing Township; a granddaughter, Burdette Russo Keegan; and four grandsons, Sabatino, Christopher, Nicholas and John Russo.

The service was private. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to Alzheimer's-Memory Disorder Disease Research Center. Veteran's administration Medical Center, the Bronx, N.Y., 10468.

Nemeth was a Hopewell area resident for the past 26 years. He was employed in custodial maintenance by the Princeton Regional Schools, retiring in 1982. Prior to that he was employed as a carpenter in private construction and had operated the family farm in Hopewell Borough for 25 years.

Mr. Nemeth graduated from Frenchtown High School and later attended the Trenton School of Industrial Arts for six years. He enjoyed and excelled at gardening, woodworking and mechanics.

Surviving are his wife, Julia Meszar Nemeth; a son, Robert J. Nemeth of Hopewell; two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Biscotto of Seminole, Fla., and Mrs. Vivian Phillips of Middlesex; two brothers-in-law, Frank Biscotto of Florida, and Michael Phillips of Middlesex; two nephews, Gene and Glen Phillips, and a niece, Lara Phillips.

The service was held at a Hopewell memorial home, Chaplain Alf Halvorson of Princeton Theological Seminary officiating. Burial was in Highland Cemetery in Hopewell.

Charles J. Rothrock, 85, of Pennington died July 18 at Helene Fuld Medical Center.

Born in Easton, Pa., he lived in Phillipsburg, Pa., before moving to Pennington 23 years ago. He was employed by Trippett and Wood of Phillipsburg for 38 years and later by the Pennington School for nine years. He was a member of Moose Lodge in Easton, Pa., and the Nazarene Church of Hopewell.

Surviving are a son and daughter-in-law, Charles J. Jr. and Virginia Rothrock of Pennington; and a granddaughter, Janice Manuel of Bean Station, Tenn.

The service was held at a Pennington memorial home, the Rev. David Atwood officiating. Burial was private.

Margaret E. Reed, 79, of Hopewell Township, died July 19 at her home. Born in Pennington, she returned to the area 19 years ago from Glendale, Md.

She was a graduate of Newark Memorial Hospital. Before retiring in 1971, she was a registered nurse at the Glendale Hospital for 22 years.

Surviving are two sisters, Mildred Van Horn and Helen E. Reed, both of Hopewell Township; a nephew, William Reed of Hamilton, and a niece, Katherine Townsend of Hamilton.

The service was held at a Pennington memorial home, the Rev. Nancy Bowen, associate pastor of the Pennington United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in Ewing Cemetery.

Eleanor G. Ross, 80, a Princeton resident for more than 20 years, died July 22 at home. Born in Morristown, she was formerly of New Vernon, where she lived for 27 years.

She was a graduate of the Brearley School in New York City and an avid painter. She was a member of Springdale Golf Club and the Nassau Club and in recent years had served as a volunteer with the American Red Cross blood mobile.

Wife of the late Leland H. Ross, she is survived by two sons, Hamilton of Princeton and John G. of Bernardsville; a sister, Molly Gillespie Vogt of Morristown; seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held at a date to be announced. A graveside service was scheduled for this Wednesday, July 25, at 11 at New Vernon Cemetery. Contributions may be made to Trinity Episcopal Church, Crescent Avenue, Rocky Hill 08533.

Seven Area Poets To Read in Festival

Seven Princeton-area poets will be among those reading their works on Sunday during the second-annual Paint Island Poetry Festival.

Area poets scheduled to participate during the festival include Lynn Powell, Ross Leckie, Frederick Tibbets and Jill Stein, all of Princeton; Lois Marie Harrod of Hopewell; and Jack Roberts and Mathew Kearney of the D&R Canal Poets, Pennington.

The festival will take place from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Paint Island Nursery, 427 Stage Coach Road, Clarksburg. The event is being organized as a project of Co/Works, a nonprofit group dedicated to the development of the arts in New Jersey. Admission to the poetry festival is a $5 donation.

Those attending the festival are encouraged to bring a picnic lunch and a chair or blanket. Part of the day will be scheduled for an open reading, when festival-goers will be invited to read their own works.

For more information, call 259-2503 or 466-4645.

News of the THEATRES

Season Will Conclude With "Twelfth Night"

Princeton Summer Theater will conclude the season with Shakespeare's Twelfth Night.

The play begins after a storm at sea that separates twin brother and sister and shipwrecks them on opposite sides of the island of Illyria. Vastly different from their home of Messaline, Illyria's kingdom of extremes presents the twins with comical and often puzzling problems. Because Viola must dress like a man in order to find work, she is often mistaken for her twin brother Sebastian. The pair are forced to deal with a lovesick Duke locked in a womb of metaphor, music and narcissism, a Lady who has closed down her house for seven years and dressed all her servants in black to mourn her brother's death, and the tavern folk drinking, fooling and fighting far beyond the "modest limits of order."

To create this world of excess, director Rob Melrose, a Princeton student and one of the original members of the Minnesota Young Playwright's Foundation, draws on images from Lewis Carroll's Alice in Wonderland, Jorge Luis Borges' Garden of Forking Paths and the lands, lives and experiences of his cast of 20. Included in this cast is 1989 Princeton University graduate Paige Rogers, who plays Viola, the female twin.

Her past training includes a summer at Britain's Oxford University. She played Mistress Overdone for Princeton University's 1986 production of Measure for Measure staged in the University Chapel. Ms. Rogers takes a passionate bent on the role of Viola, who is more traditionally played as sweet and selfless.

Melissa Friedman is Twelfth Night's other female lead, the ever-mourning Countess Olivia. In her freshman year at Oberlin College, Ms. Friedman played Juliet in Romeo and Juliet. Louise Anthony will play the Duke Orsino. He earned an Equity card after two years of professional work at Florida's State Hippodrome Theater and is relinquishing it for this production. A member of the Class of 1992, he hopes to get his card back after graduation.

Performances are Thursday through Sunday, August 2 to 5 and Tuesday through Sunday, August 7 to 12. Ticket prices are $7 Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday and $10 Friday and Saturday. In addition to the $5 Sunday night senior citizen's discount and students with ID discount, there will be a special children's matinee Sunday afternoon, August 5 and 12, at 2.

At 1:30, the director will introduce Twelfth Night's characters to the audience in order to outline the plot with the actors' help. After the show, there will be a brief question and answer session with the cast. Admission for those 17 and under is $5. Call 258-4950 for reservations and more information.

REHEARSING: Jeff Sanders will play Feste in Princeton Summer Theatre's production of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," opening Thursday, August 2, for a three-weekend run at Murray-Dodge Theatre on campus.

Special Reception Set For Purscell Comedy

A special champagne reception will follow the performance of The Temptation of Maddie Graham Saturday, August 4, at the George Street Playhouse, 9 Livingston Avenue, New Brunswick. The reception is sponsored by the Princeton Rep Company business committee.

The Temptation of Maddie Graham is being presented by Princeton Rep at the George Street Theatre's second stage. Written by Phyllis Purscell, Princeton Rep resident playwright, and directed by Kristine Holtvedt, this is a comedy about a New York actress, her family friends and colleagues. Rita Bettenbender is featured as Maddie, Susan Garrett as Sarah, Joan Penn as Evie and Gary Glor as an assortment of eccentric men in Maddie's life.

The cast and playwright will be at the reception to meet audience and patrons of Princeton Rep. Tickets are $25.

On Thursday, August 9, Princeton Rep will present Frankie and Johnny in the Clair de Lune, by Terrence McNally, as its second offering

Teenagers Are Topic Of Two Films at Kresge

Two films which deal with young people coming of age — Louis Malle's Murmur of the Heart and Cameron Crowe's Say Anything — are the feature films for Summer Cinema '90 this Wednesday and Thursday.

Summer Cinema films are shown in the air-conditioned Kresge Auditorium in the Frick Chemical Building on Washington Road. Murmur of the Heart runs on Wednesday at 7:30, with Say Anything at 9:40. On Thursday, Say Anything shows at 7:30 and Murmur of the Heart at 9:20.

Murmur of the Heart tells the story of 14-year-old Laurent whose upbringing has been, to say the least, unconventional. His mother (Lea Massari) is the fantasy mother to end all fantasy mothers — indulgent but not silly, doting but not stifling, sexy but not guilt-provoking.

After an abortive attempt to shed his virginity at a bordello, Laurent contracts a minor heart condition that leads to a convalescent vacation with mother at a fancy spa and ultimately, to the supreme wish fulfillment. At the time of Murmur's original release in 1971, the film's candid confrontation of touchy subject matter caused quite a stir. In its recent release, director Louis Malle's post-Freudian fairy tale has lost little of its audacity, but has gained stature as a classic comedy and a social document.

Say Anything is a directorial debut for screenwriter Cameron Crowe, a gentle, romantic comedy about love, honesty, and family values — no drugs, no sex, no suicides. John Cusack is Lloyd Dobler, a sensitive, nonconformist teenage army brat, who falls in love with the prettiest and brightest girl in the senior class (Ione Skye) and seizes on protecting her as his destiny. Their love has the astonished, breathless excitement of a climb to the edge of a precipice — especially when she discovers that her dad, a devoted single parent (John Mahoney), is not as perfect as she believed, a revelation that threatens her relationships with both the men she loves.

Summer Cinema '90 continues Friday through Sunday with Kenneth Branagh's Henry V and Martin Scorsese's Raging Bull. Henry V shows on Friday and Saturday at 7:15, with Raging Bull at 9:40. On Sunday, Raging Bull will be shown at 7:15 and Henry V at 9:20.

Henry V was one of the surprise movie sensations of 1989 — a 28-year-old British actor, Kenneth Branagh, little known outside England, not only directs his first film, but goes up against the 1944 classic by Sir Laurence Olivier. Olivier's Henry V was all conscious pageantry, a heroic spectacle, a celebration of monarchy. Branagh's version, in contrast, has no spectacle, little pageantry, and even less pomp. His emphasis rather, is less on politics than on the complex nature of the ambitious young King and how he wrestles with the demands of the throne.

Branagh has gathered about him a cast that reads like a virtual Who's Who of British acting including Paul Scofield, Ian Holm, Derek Jacobi, Robert Stephens, Alec McCowen, and Judi Dench, plus most of his own rep company and his wife, Emma Thompson, as Princess Katherine. This Henry V is an anti-war movie. The Agincourt battle which Olivier staged as a colorful joust, is seen here as a muddy, brutal, fellowship of death, a Renaissance Platoon with the taste of World War I carnage.

Raging Bull stars Robert De Niro in an unflinching screen biography of Jake La Motta, the middle-weight boxing champion irom 1949 to 1951. But director Martin Scorsese's film is only indirectly about boxing; the blood and brutality of the ring are an extension of the emotional primitivism of the characters in the tight, relentless screenplay by Paul Schrader and Mardik Martin, who have crafted a ferocious and sometimes funny look at a Bronx street kid who could never confine his fury to the gym.

"Fiddler on the Roof" Due at Open Air Theatre

Encore Theatre of East Windsor will present Fiddler on the Roof as the the next musical at the Open Air Theatre at Washington Crossing.

The familiar story of Tevye the dairyman and his marriageable daughters features many well known songs, including "If I Were a Rich Man," "Matchmaker, Matchmaker," and "Sunrise, Sunset."

Performances begin Thursday, August 2, at 8:30 and continue Friday and Saturday of that weekend, and again Wednesday through Saturday, August 8, 9, 10 and 11. All seating is general admission. For additional information call the box office at 737-1826 after 4.

Washington Crossing Park has several picnic areas near the theater, with plenty of room for family activities before the performance.

Music of the 1950s & '60s In Outdoor Concert

First Class Act, a quartet whose repertoire spans the 1940s to today, will be featured in concert Friday at 7 in the outdoor amphitheater at Woodlot Park, West New Road, Kendall Park. The concert is one of a series sponsored by the South Brunswick Recreation Department and Cultural Arts Commission.

First Class Act will present music from the 1950s and 60s on Friday. Wearing costume to set the right mood, Fred Campbell, lead singer, Ken Ehret, keyboard, bass and vocals, Jeff Kline, guitar and vocals and Ron Howden, drums and vocals, will provide a retrospective of tunes from Elvis through the Beach Boys.

The concert will last about an hour. The audience is invited to bring lawn chairs or blankets and also a picnic. However, alcoholic beverages are not permitted in the park. In the event of rain, the program will be held inside the Community Center, located in the same park complex.

For further information call (201) 297-4433 weekdays from 8:30 to 4:30.

Outdoor Jazz Concert Held in Mercer Park

The Rick Fiori Trio will present a free concert Saturday at 6:30, at Mercer County Park, West Windsor.

This performance, which is presented in conjunction with the 4-H fair, is part of the "Music in the Park" series presented by the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission during July and August. Drummer Rick Fiori and his group have been presenting their own special blend of jazz in the Mercer County area for the past several years, and have developed an extensive following.

Ticket Sales Were Up For June Opera Festival

The June Opera Festival of New Jersey, which has completed its seventh season of professional opera in English at The Lawrenceville School, had its most successful season ever in 1990, according to ticket sales figures.

"We sold over 1,400 more tickets this year than last," said Deborah Sandler, the festival's executive director. "That represents a 21 percent increase over 1989, and also means that since 1988, just two years ago, our audience has doubled. When you add in the 10,000 schoolchildren who saw our educational and outreach opera for children in Trenton, Newark, Camden, New Brunswick and elsewhere in March, our total audience increased to over 21,000."

Ms. Sandler attributed the June Opera Festival's success in 1990 to a number of factors, including the basic appeal of the operas the festival staged, positive reviews, growing interest in opera in general and the June Opera Festival in particular, increased media coverage, and an expanded direct-mail effort. This year's productions were Mozart's Don Giovanni and Strauss's Die Fledermaus.

There were five performances each of the operas between June 15 and July 8, plus a concert of American art s entitled "American Songbook."

Plans for the 1991 season are now under way, and may include an additional performance on a Thursday night in response to audience requests. Anyone interested in helping to prepare for next year as a member of the June Opera Guild is encouraged to call the June Opera office at 737-7722.

Woodwind Quintet Set To Perform at Rider

The Lawrence Township summer music series will continue on Tuesday with a performance by the Bel Canto Woodwind Quintet.

The community is invited to bring lawn chairs and blankets to the Rider College Student Center patio at 7 p.m. for the free concert. In case of rain, the concert will be moved indoors to the Student Center Theater.

The Bel Canto Woodwind Quintet, featuring Leslie Rife, flute, Melissa Bohl, oboe, Jerry Rife, clarinet, Michael Testa, bassoon, and Ron Sverdlove, horn, plays music from the classical, romantic and modern eras.

Trip to Broadway Show Planned by Area Group

On Saturday, August 11, West Windsor-Plainsboro Community Education will sponsor a trip to New York City to see Andrew Lloyd Weber's new play, Aspects of Love.

The bus will leave the Board of Education, 505 Village Road West, Princeton Junction, at 9:30 a.m., which will allow time for browsing and lunch before the 2 p.m. matinee. The cost is $68 for deluxe bus transportation and orchestra seat.

Call the community education office at 452-2185, to register.

Teachers & Their Students: Two Generations of Sculptors

This is the time of year when the art scene in Princeton is in the midst of the summer doldrums.

For those impatient for the Fall openings, however, there is at least one nearby exhibit that will reward an afternoon away from poolside or garden activities. "Two Generations of Sculptors: New Jersey Sculptors and Their Students," can be seen at The Gallery at Bristol-Myers Squibb through August 26.

Seven sculptors, each of them a teaching artist, were invited to exhibit one piece along with a work from one of their students.

Speaking of the student/teacher relationship, Bradford Graves, a sculptor/teacher at Fairleigh Dickinson University, said, "The teaching of sculpture gives pleasure in seeing students discover their ahilities to realize a mental idea in the concrete materials of the earth. At a time of diminishing possibilities of expression and a dependency encouraged and fostered by the passivity of the media age, I hope to teach a respect for the lowly, enduring ohject that serves no purpose in an era of plastic boxes — icons of a throwaway culture."

However selected, the students were certainly not chosen because they aped their mentors' styles. Nor are the students necessarily the more adventuresome of the duos.

To Cross Woter the presentation of Rutgers faculty member Melvin Edwards, consists of a jumhled construction of welded steel whose primary feature is an upended set of old tire rims joined hack to back.

Mr. Edwards' student, on the other hand, has produced a compelling bust, classieally executed in cast iron, of a man's head. The life-sized portrait hy Donald Myhre has enormous presence. This is a reol person, in the penetrating manner of the painter Lucian Freud, not an exercise in salon realism. It has great bulk and solidity. The head is hald, the lips full, the neck as thick as a Sumo wrestler's. Although the heavily lidded eyes are closed, as in a death mask, the features are compelling.

Again, the offering of Patricia Lay, on the faculty of Montclair State College, is an elegantly lean construction of fired clay and steel executed with the simplicity and clean lines of a Brancusi.

Life Cycles, the earthenware sculpture hy her student Nancy Deuber, on the other hand, depicts an almost lifesize female figure daubed overall a dull, grayish pink. Her upper body, her waist and her thighs are encircled by a procession of tiny female figurines, similarly colored, minlature versions of the central figure.

Shift of Intent

Even when student and teacher are mining the same vein of realism, there is a decided shift of intent. Lauren Ewing, also on the Rutgers teaching staff, has produced a playful trompe l'oell steel and lead highboy, Keepsake II, so realistic that a viewer catches him or herself surreptitiously trying one of its seven drawers.

Ms. Ewing's student, Dianne Young, also has a realist bent, but it is decidedly "bent." Her Leod Dress appears to have been constructed in four sections over an armature like that of a dressmaker's dummy. The garment is apparently a party dress, hut something that should be light and frothy has now taken on the apparent weight of a suit of armor. It makes ones shoulders slump just to think of wearing it.

The works of James Seawright and his student Virginia Libby seem particularly far apart. For the last 25 years, Mr. Seawright, who teaches at Princeton University, has occupied himself, in his words, "with motion and change, and especially interactivity in sculpture." The advent of modern electronics and computer technology has accelerated the possibilities.

Quortet, a metal and plastic construction, incorporates a platoon of small robots programmed to twirl, back up and surge forward in reaction to changing light conditions (often, apparently, with the aid of curious onlookers waving their hands up and down on all sides) and sequences of computer-patterned "ballets."

"UNTITLED #7" is a fired clay and steel construction by Patricia Lay, who teaches at Montclair State College. It is among the works included in "Two Generations of Sculptors: New Jersey Teachers and Their Students" at The Gallery at Bristol-Myers Squibb through August 26.

Any visible movement in Virginia Libby's Londscopes' Toy is caused strictly by the movement of air in its vicinity. The small sculpture, as minimal in its execution as Seawright's is complex, is, in effect, a miniature stage set.

Narrow slats of unpainted wood, cut in a wave-like pattern that imitates their naturally wavy grain, rest in grooves, one behind the other, like "flats" on a tiny stage. A few inches overhead, forming a sort of ceiling, similarly shaped slats hang suspended from lengths of thin copper wire. The effect is that of mountains (or waves) under a bank of clouds.

The feeling a visitor is left with is that these teachers are focused on the creative process, and are guiding their students in the mastery of their media in order to deliver the message — whatever that message might be.

In the words of Ms. Lay, "It is the love of the art-making process as a form of self-realization which provides student and teacher with ideals liberated from stylistic inerests."

—Marion Burdick

November Date Selected For Artworks Benefit

Co-Chairs Winn Thompson and George Olexa Jr. have announced the date of November 3, for the annual Artworks benefit. The Artworks location in Trenton will set the stage for the theme, "Feast Your Eyes and Please Your Palate."

The event will feature a silent auction of original work by artists such as Michael Graves, Henry Martin, Geri DePaoli, Margaret Jobnson, Marge Chavooshian and Lee Stang Harr.

Also featured will be food presented by area restaurants. Leading chefs from the region will prepare special dishes for guests at this benefit.

For more information, call Artworks at 921-9173 or 394-9436.

Larsen Dulman Gallery Hosts Princeton Artists

The Larsen Dulman Gallery in New Hope will host the opening of an exhibit of new works by Peter Vanni, sculptor, along with paintings by Sydney Anne Neuwirth and Annelies Van Dommelen on Saturday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. All are invited to attend the gala.

Peter Vanni, a resident of Princeton known for his dynamic exterior sculptures incorporating bronze bells and gongs, will exhibit two new lines of work. The first is a steel and travertine series that juxtaposes textures and surfaces in a unique way. His second line of work is a series of functional steel and stone furniture for the home and workplace.
place.

Another well-known Princeton artist will be participating in the show. Sydney Anne Neuwirth is known for a body of work that includes the series of dancers rendered in watercolor that will be exhibited in the show. A former dancer herself, over the years, Ms. Neuwirth derived inspiration for her paintings from her Tony-award winning daughter, Bebe Neuwirth, currently seen as Lillith on Cheers.

The "animated paper" works of Annelies Van Dommelen will also be featured. Her work has a sculptural quality, offering dimension and form."

Artwork of Anne Heimann At ETS Concert Gallery

A one-person exhibit of artist Anne Heimann's works will be featured in the Conant Gallery of Educational Testing Service from August 9 to September 12.

Ms. Heimann's mixed-media drawings explore nature, the environment and mythology through the use of symbolism. "By exploring minutely the details of the natural world, I explore the universe," she says. "Stones on a beach become a cosmos; bark, scales, hides, petals — sometimes presented in such isolated detail that they become totally abstract — take on symbolic meanings for me as I work."

In her "Confrontation Series," Ms. Heimann places ancient myths and symbols into a contemporary context. Working on paper with layers of colored pencil, or sometimes oil pastels called "craypas," she reveals the essence, spirit and power of nature's mysteries.

The exhibit is free of charge and open to the public, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The Conant Gallery is located in Lounge B of Conant Hall at Educational Testing Service, Rosedale Road.

Museum to Close for August

Because of Princeton University's budgetary constraints, the art museum will be closed for the month of August. Museum offices, however, will remain open Monday through Friday from 8:30 to 4:30.

On Saturday, September 1, the museum will reopen to the public at 10 a.m.

Post 76 in State Tourney After Bordentown Sweep

Batting around twice in successive innings, Princeton Post 76 routed Bordentown, 17-9, Monday at Mercer Park to sweep its best-of-three playoff series with Post 26 two games to none. The previous day, Post 76 had outlasted Bordentown, 12-10.

In winning the series, Post 76 advances to the New Jersey American Legion Tournament which starts Saturday. In the opening round of the state tournament, Post 76 will oppose the Bergen County champion this weekend in Linden.

Hamilton Post 31, which swept its playoff series with Hightstown, will play the Essex County champion on Saturday at Memorial Stadium in New Brunswick. Broad Street Park, the Mercer County American Legion League champion, the third team from Mercer County to participate in the 32-team state tourney, will play the Union County champion Saturday evening at 7 at Mercer Park.

In Sunday's loss to Princeton, Bordentown manager Jim Maher had complained about his team's defensive play. "You have to be able to catch the ball in these games; we can't play defense." On Monday it got worse. Maher's club fell apart in the field, committing 11 errors. Compound that with some solid hitting by Post 76 and it added up to disaster for Maher's final legion game. He announced earlier that he is retiring at the end of the season.

Trailing 4-1, Princeton rallied for five runs in the bottom of the third when it batted around on just three hits and four Bordentown errors.

Post 76 expanded its two run lead considerably when it batted around again in the fourth inning. Leading Post 76 at the plate were Greg Schwartz, who had three hits, scored three runs and drove in two, and Mike Andolina, who had three hits and two RBIs. Peter Prodanov and Jason Rizzo also had two hits apiece for Post 76 which won its fourth straight.

Post 76 pitcher Jeff Skalinski, battling through an uneven season, pitched the first five innings to get the win and improve to 4-3. He gave up five hits and four earned runs and struck out five.

Snap 10-10 Tie

Offense held sway in Post 76's opening see-saw battle with Bordentown. Post 76 took a three-run lead but fell behind when Bordentown scored three runs in both the fourth and fifth innings to go up, 8-3. Post 76 went on top again by erupting for one of its biggest innings of the season, plating seven runs in the sixth. The first seven batters reached base and scored, as Jim Maher used three pitchers in the inning to try to halt the rally. Andolina, Scott Petrone and Brent Papciak all had run-scoring singles in Princeton's big inning.

An inning later, Bordentown tied the game at 10 with two unearned runs. With the bases loaded, a hit batsman and a walk plated the tying runs.

In the ninth, Andolina singled off Howard Hughes, Bordentown's fourth pitcher. Sharif Aboelnaga walked. With two down, the Bordentown defense lapsed for its sixth error. Third baseman Matt Dengler allowed a ball to get past him, scoring Andolina with the go-ahead run and sending Aboelnaga to third. Brent Papciack, whose bat has come alive in the final games, then beat out an infield hit to send Aboelnaga home with an insurance run.

Andolina, who relieved Craig Schwartz on the mound in the seventh, retired seven of the last eight batters he faced.

Post 76 Is in Playoffs; Two Berths Are at Stake

So far so good for the Princeton Post 76 team.

Post 76 last week won its last two games to clinch a berth in the Mercer County American Legion post season playoffs. Manager Larry Bender's club, which historically has performed better in the State tournamend than it has in regular-season play, finished with a 15-9 record, two games out of first place.

In one of the league's more heated seasons, Broad Street Park, Bordentown and Hightstown finished in a three-way tie for first, deadlocked with 17-7 records. Hamilton ended with a 16-8 record to wind up in fourth place.

In the playoffs to determine the league champion, Broad Street Park successfully defended the league crown it won last year when it defeated both Bordentown and Hightstown. Bordentown finished second as a result of a loss to BSP and Hightstown wound up third, following its loss to BSP.

McClenahan Rookie of Year

Princeton Post 76 16-year-old third baseman Matt McClenahan has been voted Rookie of the Year in the Mercer American Legion League.

Jerry Thompson of league champion Broad Street Park was named the league's Most Valuable Player and Troy Ingham of Bordentown was honored as the Player of the Year and winner of the Earned Run Average title. Ingham posted a 2.09 ERA in winning five and losing three. He struck out 41.

Hightstown's Matt Schilling won both the Golden Glove award and the batting title. Schilling had 38 hits in 84 at bats for a .452 average.

Tim Landis, who guided Hightstown to a surprising first-place tie this season, was named the league's Manager of the Year.

This year, three teams from Mercer County will advance to the 32-team New Jersey American League State tournament. Quarterfinal-round play will be held at four sites — one of those being Mercer Park. The tournament begins Saturday.

As league champion, Broad Street Park automatically advances. The two other teams from Mercer County will be determined by a three-game playoff between Post 76, the fifth-place team and second-place Bordentown. The other playoff will involve third-place Hightstown opposing fourth-place Hamilton.

In its final regular-season game, Post 76 had to battle back to defeat Princeton Post 218, 8-6. The surprising Post 218 team held Post 76 to just five hits but the victors managed to take advantage of five walks and some mistakes by Post 218 in the field. Half of its runs were unearned.

Post 76 could afford to be loose because it had clinched a playoff spot the previous day with a big, 8-6, win over Hamilton. The win was the third for Post 76 over Hamilton and gave them a sweep of the three-game series.

"A good win against one of the better teams in the league," said Bender later. "It was a big win because now we're in the playoffs."

Post 76 had grabbed a 3-0 lead in the first but Hamilton came back to go ahead 6-5 in the sixth. Post 76 answered right back. Brent Papciack doubled home Sharif Aboelnaga, who had walked, for the

Here's an unusual baseball question ... Suppose a runner slides into third base safely — but as he slides, the base becomes loose and moves away ... The runner is then tagged out while he is not on the base ... Is the runner out? ... Under a little-known rule, he's safe ... The rule says "no play can be made on the runner if the base becomes dislodged after he reaches it safely."

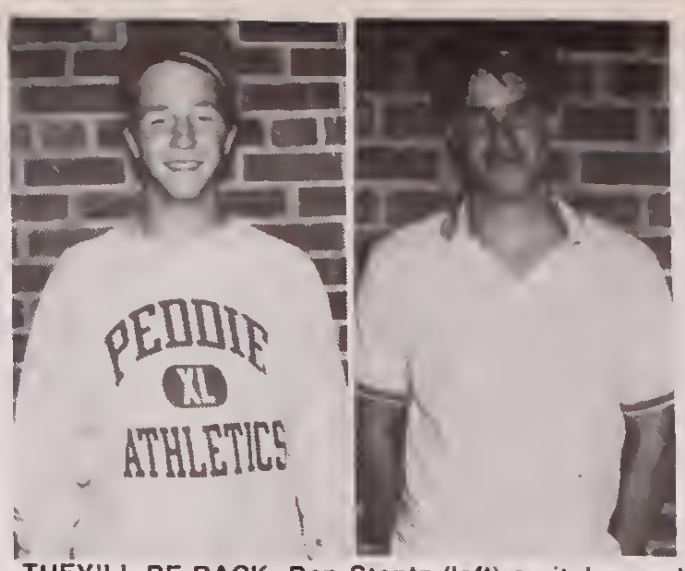
First Season Is Over For Princeton Post 218

The consensus was that Princeton Post 218 as a newcomer this year to the Mercer County American Leagion League could expect to lose a lot of games its first time out — especially with a lot of inexperienced, young players in a league where the caliber of play has been consistently high.

Well, the consensus was right. It was a rough year for Post 218. Last week, it lost two more games, its 23rd and 24th consecutive losses. It failed to win a single game.

Post 218, its season over, came close twice. Once against Hamilton when it was leading 5-1, only to have Post 31 rally for five runs for a 6-5 squeaker in a game that was called (questionably in the minds of Post 218 followers) after five innings because of threatening weather.

The second time was last week, in game No. 23 against its similarly-named rival, Princeton Post 76. Post 218 had a 5-2 lead after three innings, only to have Post 76, which had clinched the fourth and final playoff berth the day before, rally for two runs in the bottom of the third and four more in the fifth to pull out an 8-6 win.



THEY'LL BE BACK: Ben Stentz (left) a pitcher and outfielder and co-captain of the Princeton Post 218 Legion team, and Tim Hannan, a Rutgers Prep student, and one of the youngest players in the league at 13, will both return next year, as will the entire Post 218 squad.

"It was close. A great game," said Post 218 manager Tom Parker. "I'd have loved to have won that one."

The next day, Post 218 ended its season with a 14-2 loss to Hightstown, which, as a result, ended the regular season in a first-place tie with defending league champion Broad Street Park and Bordentown.

"That was not a bad game, either," insisted Parker. "We made some mistakes but the score didn't indicate how we played. I feel pretty good about the season; we didn't lose a single soul."

Post 218 threw a momentary scare into Hightstown when it tied the score at two in the third inning. But Post 148, one of the surprise teams in the league this year, answered with three runs in the bottom of the third and then scored in every inning thereafter to win its 17th easily. A pair of two-run homers were among the five extra base hits by the victors.

Third baseman Matt Baum, who will be a senior on the Princeton High team next spring, had two of Princeton's six hits.

The previous day at Mercer Park, Post 218 DH Dan Wilson uncorked a grand slam in the third inning to give his team a 5-2 lead, and Baum was a perfect four-for-four at the plate, as Post 218 doubled Post 76 in hitting, 10 to 5. Post 218 catcher Joe Hayek, a force behind the plate all season, chipped in with a pair of hits.

But Post 76 reached Post 218 hurler Colin Apse, who went the distance, for four runs in the fifth, including the tying and winning runs. As usual, Post 76 manager Larry Bender had his players running. The home team swiped seven bases to keep its runners in scoring position.

Apse walked five and struck out two in losing for the fifth time this season. Mike Andolina, the third of four Post 76 pitchers, got the win.

The String Runs Out For Princeton LL Team

The clock struck midnight for Princeton last week in the District 12 Little League Tournament.

Competing for the first time in the 18-team tourney, Princeton had earned the "Cinderella" sobriquet by winning three consecutive times to reach the semi-final round in the losers bracket after an opening 5-3 loss to Chambersburg. It was Chambersburg again that ended Princeton's Cinderella role, defeating Princeton Thursday by the same 5-3 score. "We have nothing to be ashamed of," said Princeton manager Alain Kornhauser.

Trailing 5-0, Princeton plated two runs in the fifth inning when Matt Rothman homered, bringing home Scott Mauney who had led off the inning with a double. In the sixth, Ed Speedling's lead-off home run cut the deficit to 5-3. Two outs later, with a runner on, Princeton came close to tying the score but Mauney's blast over the fence at Jim Reed Field in Sayen Park in Nottingham curved foul. Mauney then struck out swinging.

The outcome, both managers felt, turned on a sparkling defensive play in the third inning. Princeton, trading by one run, had loaded the hases on singles by Jerry Cadava, Mauney and Rathman. Walker Wright roped a shot toward left center that seemed certain to drop in for extra bases. But Princeton players were given a good example in their young careers that basehall is a game of inches. Chambersburg centerfielder Tom Pihokken made a glittering, running, over-the-shoulder catch to deny Princeton the lead.

"No question, it was the difference in the game," said Kornhauser.

The previous day, Princeton took a 3-0 lead against Florence after two innings and then hlew the game open with ten runs in the fifth. Florence had taken the lead the previous inning when it scored all four of its runs without a hit, capitalizing on five walks by Princeton starter Ed Speedling.

Princeton's hig inning began when it loaded the bases on Jack Paczosa's hit and two walks. After two more walks forced in the first two runs, Mike Kornhauser singled in another, Cadava doubled home two more, Mauney had an RBI single and Rathman and Wright also drove in runs.

Having tasted tournament play, Princeton found it very palatable. By now, Princeton's young players must be aware of yet another hoary baseball axiom: "Wait until next year."

Ficarro's Edges Grove In Torrid Softball Race

Ficarro's Auto Body, Grove Plumbing and Three Seasons have not been able to pull away from each other in the torrid three-way race for first place in the Women's Softball League.

Last week, Princeton-based Ficarro's defeated Miller Lite, 5-2, and edged Grove Plumbing, 3-2, to remain a half-game behind. The same night Ficarro's was handling Miller, Grove defeated Three Season's to retain its slim hold as the league's leader.

Currently, as the 27-game schedule winds down, Grove is on top with a 19-4 record, while Ficarro's and Three Seasons are each a half game behind at 18-4. "What a race!" agrees Ficarro manager Bob Smyth, who says he really wants to win the league title this year.

In games this week, Ficarro's was scheduled to meet Grove again and then oppose Dot's Girls at 6:30 on Mercer Park's Field 6. Because of postponements, Ficarro's has three games left to play with Dot's — the team, Smyth points out rather reluctantly, that has had more success defeating Ficarro's than any other team during the past five years.

All In Two Innings

Against Miller, Ficarro's scored all its runs in two innings, getting two in the first and three in the fourth. Winning pitcher Louann Slocum-Robidoux helped her cause at the plate by banging out two hits in three at-bats. Charlotte Demasco and Cindy Lombardo each added two more hits. Donna Nicholson, Beth Ault and Dee Discavage all conneeted for doubles for the victors.

The game with Grove was expected to be a close battle between two longtime foes and it was. Ficarro's scored one run in the first on singles by Nicholson and Ault, an error, and Discavage's sacrifice fly.

Grove matched it in the first, combining a walk and two hits. In the third, Grove went up a run when it bunched three consecutive hits off Ficarro pitcher Doreen Romanchuk and a sacrifice fly. There was no scoring in the fourth. In the fifth, Discavage kept Grove off the scoreboard again when she threw across the diamond to nail a runner at third. "It was," said Smyth, "a huge play."

In the sixth, Ficarro tied the score at two off singles hy Nicholson, Ault and Durland and Romanchuk's RBI sacrifice fly. Grove then intentionally walked Cee Aerstin, who had hit twice in her two previous appearances, to get at Diane Kelly. The strategy failed when Kelly singled home the winning run. Flcarro's might have had more but pinch runner Jamie Burress was cut down at the plate for the final out of the inning.

THE HAVES AND THE HAVE NOTS: Cee Aerstin of Ficarro's has the plate, but Miller Lite catcher does not have the ball, as Aerstin scores in Ficarro's three-run rally in the fourth. Ficarro's won to stay in contention for first place in Women's Softball League.

Romanchuk set down Grove 1-2-3 in the sixth. In the bottom of the last inning, Grove had the tying run on third when it sandwiched a fly-out and a strikeout between three walks to jam the bases. Romanchuk got Grove's number-three batter to fly out to Damasco to end the game.

Nicholson had three hits and Ault two to lead Ficarro's at the plate.

White Waters swimmers won a number of bonors at the Garden State Games Swimming Championships held this month at the Rahway River Park Pool. Thirty-eight teams participated.

Kaisa Greenberg placed first in women's 10 and under 50M freestyle, 100M breaststroke, and 200M freestyle and second in the 100M breaststroke. Sanna Greenberg finished first in the women's 100M senior breaststroke, second in 200M senior breast, third in the 200M 13-and-14 butterfly, and fourth in 200M senior backstroke. Minie Shu was second in women's 200M senior butterfly.

Manab Pakrashi captured fourth place in the men's 11 and 12 50M backstroke, while Allison Cuff placed fifth in women's 200M 13-and-14 breaststroke. Mike Smith placed fifth in men's 100M senior freestyle, and Aaron Spiewak tied for fifth in the 200M senior individual medley. Laura Blakeslee was sixth in the women's 200M 10 and under freestyle.

Also, Dan Aber seventh in the 200M senior breaststroke, Gale Shu seventh in the 200M 13-and-14 breast, Gian Scozzaro seventh in senior 200M individual medley and eighth in 1500M senior freestyle, and Ben Giradet eigbth in 100M senior freestyle.

Also swimming for White Waters were Elizabeth Karn, Sidd Naithani, Wendy Simon, Manish Pakrashi, Gillian Marum, Jeremy Butler, Chris Swanson, Jenny Chiurco, Kari Swanson, Mary Heim, and Elizabeth Heim.

Tennis Tournament Set: Women's Singles July 28

The annual Mercer County women's singles tennis tournament will be held Saturday through August 3, at the Outdoor Tennis Center in Mercer County Park.

Matches will be scheduled on Saturday and Sunday, and will continue throughout the week at 6 each evening.

The single elimination tournament will have an "A" division for players with a 4.0 and above rating, and a "B" division for those with a 3.5 and under rating. Awards will be presented to the winner and finalist in each division.

All players are eligible. The entry fee is $7 per player for Mercer County residents, and $9 for nonresidents. Applications may be obtained at the Outdoor Tennis Center or by calling the Center office at 448-2088 or 586-9850. Deadline for submitting an application is Thursday.

Shopping Center

nesters." The Shopping Center additions were designed by the Hillier Group, and Fred Travisano is the architect for the housing project.

The concept plan, as proposed, would need variances for setback and parking requirements, or a change in zoning regulations governing the Shopping Center. In presenting the plan as proposed, the Shopping Center owners may have been operating on the assumption that in exchange for providing land for the Township's affordable housing program — land that is viewed as being ideally suited for the purpose because of its proximity to the Shopping Center and other services — zoning regulations formulated 36 years ago when the Center was built would be modified.

Because the Planning Board's agenda was full of applieations that night, the time for public comment on the concept was limited, but the residents were promised another opportunity to make their views known in September. T. Burnet Fisher of Snowden Lane, representing the Northeast Residents Association, led off the opposition by characterizing the conccpt plan as "two projects jammed into a space in which there should only be one."

Mr. Fisher wanted to know why the hearing was being held in summer, when many people are away. He criticized the free-standing building as disrupting and partially blocking circulation, creating a bottleneck and an impediment to fire access. He told the board the residents would not want to see the minimum setback shortened or parking requirements reduced. "We see no reason for variances to be granted to an out of town developer," Mr. Fisher stated.

He went on to question the need for additional affordable housing, when the Griggs Farm development has had difficulty selling its market units. He said if the units are built with a federal subsidy, the town loses control. But his primary concern was that all the subsidized housing is in the northeast part of town, a criticism voiced by others as well. "We have more than our share," Mr. Fisher told the board. He was also critical of the four entrances/exits to the housing from Terhune Road and urged the board to "reject this proposal and have it redesigned." The audience applauded him and other speakers loudly and at length.

Space far Supermarket

Other speakers questioned why the Superfresh had to have such a "monumental" space, although there seemed to be some acknowledgement that supermarket economics of today might require a bigger space. Others wanted to know why the Epstein's building couldn't be used for a supermarket, since it will soon be vacant. The answer, put forth by a representative of the A&P corporation, was that the weight-bearing capacity of the floors in Epstein's are not adequate for supermarket use.

One speaker told the board that growth on Harrison Street should be curbed and asked that the five acres on which housing is proposed be integrated into the Township's park system, with walkways and picnic areas "to remind us how it [the area] was" — before the corporate headquarters and housing projects she listed had been built.

This speaker said it was "unconscionable" of the Planning Board to consider expanding the Shopping Center and allowing a housing project in the area. She compared them to straws breaking the camel's back, and said, "the camel's knees are buckling.

Tina Kinney, 384 Ewing Street, told the board that the Shopping Center is very attractive as it is today, but she characterized the proposed plan as "a concrete island in a sea of macadam." "Is the extra [retail] space warranted?" she asked, given the vacancy rate Dana Comfort of George Comfort & Sons, owners of the Shopping Center had mentioned at the beginning of the presentation. The existing Superfresh space would be remodelled for additional retail, and the extensions proposed along the Harrison Street side presumably will have new retail space.

40 Percent Vacancy Rate

Mr. Comfort said that by October, when Epstein's will have moved out, the Shopping Center will be experiencing a 40 percent vacancy rate. Ms. Kinney also used the word "unconscionable" in speaking of the new Superfresh building which would bring trucks, noise and light very close to residences along Clearview Avenue. She urged the Planning Board to keep the zoning laws already in place.

In his remarks, Mr. Comfort pointed out that the Princeton Shopping Center is not composed of boutiques but of hardware stores and banks that meet residents' needs. He said that new construction after the demolition will mean an addition of less than 10 percent of the total square footage.

He said that since the Comforts purchased the Shopping Center seven years ago $2 million in improvements had been added. Although improvements to the parking areas at either end of the Shopping Center are proposed, he asked to defer the improvements to the Epstein end until a new tenant is in place. He suggested that if the plan stretches out (meaning delays in approvals and start of construction) the improvements won't be carried out and said it was "a matter of economics."

Beach Safety Tips

As the temperature rises, many seek relief at the beach. But a day at the beach is no picnic when you overdo the sun and surf. Using common sense and moderation are often all you need for a safe day at the shore.

Dr. Michael Doyle, a HealthWays affiliated family physician in Neptune, notes that many beach accidents are easily avoided. "The sun, sand and water are there for you to enjoy. However, they bring with them certain health risks."

To avoid many of those risks, review the following first-aid and safety tips.

Safe Sun Tanning

• Apply sunscreen 15 to 30 minutes before sun exposure. Reapply every two or three hours throughout the day.

• On extra-sensitive areas — eyes, ears and nose — use a balm or block with a SPF (sun protection factor) of at least 15.

• Slip into lightweight, light-colored pants and long-sleeved shirts, or shade yourself under a beach umbrella, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. when the sun's burning UV-B rays are the strongest.

• Wear a wide-brimmed hat and bring sports caps for the kids to protect the scalp and face from sunburn.

• Make sure that all exposed skin is protected with a sunscreen, as the sun reflects off many surfaces such as sand, water, and concrete.

• Slather on the sunscreen — rain or shine. As much as 85 percent of the ultraviolet burning rays can penetrate clouds even on overcast days.

• For beachwear, only wear sunglasses that have been rated for "general use" by the Sunglass Association of America. Eyewear which falls into this category has darker lenses than fashion or "cosmetic use" sunglasses, and block at least 95 percent of UV-B rays.

• Oral contraceptives, diuretics, and antibiotics can cause the skin to be extra sensitive to the sun. If you're taking medications, consult your physician before sunbathing.

Beach Overdoses and Antidotes

Sunburns: Stay cool. Take a tepid bath and/or lie down in a dark, well-ventilated room. Drink lots of water and eat a few saltine crackers to replace fluid and salt loss. Watch for signs of heat exhaustion and/or sun poisoning.

Heat Exhaustion: Symptoms of heat exhaustion include nausea, lack of perspiration (even under the arms) and flushed skin. If unconsciousness occurs, consult a physician immediately.

Avoid strenuous outdoor exercise during the warmest hours of the day and sudden changes of temperature, e.g., going from an air-conditioned building to a car parked in the sun. Days of high humidity increase susceptibility to heat exhaustion.

Wear loose, lightweight, light-colored clothing which reflects the sun and allows sweat to evaporate. Stay out of the sun and drink lots of water or nonalcoholic fluids.

Sun Stroke: Sun stroke is considered a true medical emergency that can result in permanent injury and death. Symptoms include a high fever and unconsciousness resulting from the body's inability to regulate its temperature.

Medical personnel should be alerted immediately. Until medics arrive, get the person out of the sun. If possible, bring the person indoors, or produce shade with an umbrella. Try to lower the body's temperature. Make cool compresses by soaking beach towels, then place them on the individual.

Swimmer's Ear: The symptoms of swimmer's ear include tenderness and a feeling of fullness in the ear which can be accompanied by a burning or itching sensation. Wiggling the outer ear will cause pain.

To prevent swimmer's ear, clear water from the ear by tipping the head from side to side until the water has drained from the canal. Absorb the excess water from the ear with the twisted corner of a facial tissue.

If discomfort persists, look with a penlight to be sure there is not an insect or other foreign particle in the ear. Consult a physician if pain and irritation persist for more than 24 hours or if symptoms include a bloody or pussy discharge.

Jellyfish Sting: Symptoms include redness, tenderness, and swelling accompanied by a burning sensation. For the best treatment, wash affected area with soap and water to remove any remaining stinger parts. If pain or burning sensation persists, treat with an over-the-counter topical steroid ointment containing cortisone. Internal symptoms resulting from jellyfish stings are extremely unlikely from species found in the northeast.

Water Safety: Never swim in areas unattended by lifeguards. Never assume that flotation devices — vests, rings or arm-tubes — prevent drowning.

When in a group of adults and children, have adults take turns watching and supervising the swimmers. If possible, have an adult accompany children in the water at all times.

Always assume that the water is not deep enough to dive into and over your head when learning to swim.

Shopping Center

Robert Hillier, president of the Hillier Group, described the Shopping Center plan, the additions at either end of the buildings along Harrison Street and the new supermarket. He said opening up the mall at one end will be an improvement, drawing customers into the two-acre green space inside the center, and to the stores around it. "It will make for a healthier shopping center," Mr. Hillier remarked.

The number of parking spaces is figured at 5.2 cars per 1,000 square feet of retail space, the present zoning requirement. "We're suggesting four cars per 1,000 square feet," Mr. Hillier said, "which would give us room for the new Superfresh." He cited various authorities as endorsing that standard, including the Urban Land Institute, and remarked that the standard in the 1950s was "different."

Parking Plan

In his memo to the Planning Board, Professional Planner Richard Collier said the parking plan is deficient by 265 spaces and pointed out that of the 1224 spaces proposed, nearly one-third are proposed as compact car spaces. "This proportion seems high," Mr. Collier wrote, but he noted that the Township does not have a standard.

The existing zoning requires minimum setbacks of 200 feet on the side, 280 in back and 175 in front. Under the proposed plan, the new Superfresh is 125 feet away from Crestview neighbors. Mr. Hillier said a 40-foot minimum landscape buffer would be created and reinforced at key points.

He showed a drawing of the standard Superfresh building design with entrance facing Harrison Street topped by a large sign. He said he had discussed with corporation officials using painted white brick at either end of the building, in keeping with the Epstein's building, which is white brick.

Mr. Travisano showed drawings of the townhouses he is proposing in the housing development. They would be one-story at the ground floor level, with a steeply pitched roof masking the second story. "The scale is cottage-like," Mr. Travisano noted. He said that the houses would be located behind the significant screen of white pine along Terhune Road and behind the existing shrubbery along the Shopping Center parking lot.

Sixty-four parking spaces would be located in courts associated with clusters of units. The senior citizen units would be one-bedroom, totalling 600 square feet each, whereas the market rate units for "empty nesters" would be one and two bedrooms and 1200 square feet.

Planning Board Chairman Margen Penick told Mr. Comfort, Mr. Hillier and Mr. Travisano that although she could understand the reason for a new supermarket, she was concerned about the location as shown and would like to see it moved north. She said she liked the opening up of the mall but was concerned about closing off the green space on the Harrison Street side. She also asked whether relocating the recycling shed would be to its disadvantage and expressed concern about the number of compact car spaces.

Other Planning Board members echoed her concerns and added some of their own. William Enslin asked for more information on the need for senior citizen housing, Ellen Stark characterized the project as too dense. Township Deputy Mayor Marchand was hissed by the audience when she said that even though the Comfort firm was from out of town, the two architects were local, and as such could be counted on to work out a solution that took into consideration the neighbors' concerns.

In other business, the board approved a new phasing scheme for the Ettl Farm development on Rosedale Road in which all of the original conditions imposed by the board would still be met. It also approved the application of the Princeton Packet to convert a residence at 294 Witherspoon Street to office use but asked that consideration be given to installing window boxes as a way of keeping the residential character of the street.

Looking for a house that is distinctive - elegant but not too formal, spacious yet gracious, with a personality all its own? You will find it in western Princeton on a beautiful lot secluded by ageless trees on a cul-de-sac in exclusive Russell Estates. Two wings flank the sheltered doorway which opens to a vista, through the wide foyer, of a dramatic Palladian window, now the backdrop for a grand piano. The living room has a handsome fireplace as do the formal dining room and the library. The kitchen is superb with cherry cabinets and Corian counters and a charming dining area with French doors to a delightful deck. A luxurious master bedroom with glamorous bath completes the first floor. Upstairs - two large bedrooms with spacious hall bath. A special house. $780,000

This spacious Williamsburg Colonial features a front-to-back gracious center hall and living room, both with French doors to a flagstone terrace. The formal dining room is convenient to the newly decorated bright eat-in kitchen, just a stairway away from a huge family room with wall-to-wall Berber carpet. Upstairs is a master suite, as well as 3 family bedrooms. One of the prettiest houses in Riverside, custom built and special with beautiful moldings and stained hardwood floors. Few homes have such spacious rooms and such a fine location, so close to town. Call us today for an appointment. $515,000
